CITY TRUSTEES

Filing of Petition as to Brand Boulevard Produces Interesting Details

Chairman Watson being absent, Mr. Lane was appointed chairman pro tem.

Minutes were read and approved. A new batch of demands was read and referred. Bids for improvement of Louise street were opened and declared.

At this point a delegation of about twenty citizens from Brand boulevard and vicinity filed into the chamber and were invited to address the board. Mattison B. Jones, Esq., representing petitioners, presented a petition which was read by the clerk, signed by a large number of property owners and by other petitioners, representing 5198 feet of frontage on Brand boulevard, and having a total number of 748 names. The petitioners asked that the trustees take such action as will be effectual in getting the Pacific Electric company to lower its tracks on Brand boulevard, and proceed to have that thoroughfare improved in a proper manner. Mr. Jones stated that the purpose of the petition is to strengthen and support the trustees in whatever action they may take in the matter. Behind this board he stated will stand the progressive citizens of the community and that the property owners along the boulevard are willing to be assessed for the improvement of the street, believing that if so improved their property will be benefited three or four times as much as this will cost. City Engineer Lynch stated that to put their tracks to grade, would be looked upon by the railroad people as a virtual abandonment of their right of way. Further that the company regards the maintenance of curbs along their right of way between street crossings, for protection from traffic by teams, as an absolute necessity. He further stated his belief that the railroad company would absolutely refuse to lower its track to grade all through the city; that they could be compelled to lower to a "reasonable grade."

Messrs. C. F. Parker, Ezra Parker and R. C. Sternberg addressed the board, all urging that action be taken such as is necessary to get results. Trustee Lane stated his belief that the railroad should put their tracks down and pay their proportion of street improvement. After some desultory firing all along the line, the delegation retired, the petition being referred to committee of the whole.

When the matter of telephone franchise came up, Mr. Mason of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. informed the board that the company could not recede from its position in refusing to agree that there shall be inserted in the franchise an agreement to the effect that the number of free calls should never be less than at present within the limits of the city of Los Angeles, they would not bid with such limitation included. In reply, Mr. Lane stated the position of the city is an attempt to protect the people of this city from being treated as one or two other places have been treated, being put on "long distance" instead of free service with Los Angeles as at present. Mr. Mason stated the objection of the company to be held up by the clause referred to; not knowing what conditions would exist twenty-five or ten years from now. Finally laid over for a week.

The Glendale Investment Co. sent in a communication offering the city a lot on Jackson street south of Broadway for $2300, and lot 2, block 23 for $1100.

Adjourned to meet as committee of the whole.

Mrs. C. R. Tower of Tower, Indiana, is visiting at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower of Damasco Court. Mrs. Tower will remain in Southern California during the winter season.

LATEST RAILROAD NEWS

Glendale-Eagle Rock Road Reported Sold—Gossip as to P. E. Plans

Railroad rumors are beginning to circulate persistently again and some of them have a circumstantial consistency that makes them credible. In the first place it is asserted on good authority that the Glendale-Eagle Rock road has been sold to the Pacific Electric. This cannot be confirmed but it appears to be a probability. Again, it is known that in North Pasadena and La Canyada, there have been certain recent transactions which indicate the probability of the early construction of the Pacific Electric Loop line from Pasadena, crossing the Arroyo Seco at Devil's Gate, following the south side of La Canyada to Verdugo Canon and thence down to a connection with the rails of the same company at Glendale. If this is the project, it is evident that the possession of the Glendale-Eagle Rock line by this company would be almost essential as it would be the connecting link with the Brand boulevard as well as the Glendale avenue line. That the Pacific Electric contemplates doing something on the east side of Glendale is indicated by a number of recent incidents. It is believed that an understanding exists at least between the Pacific Electric and the Salt Lake company as to the use of the latter's rails on Glendale avenue for an electric line. Some even assert that the electric company has obtained control but that announcement of the deal is held back pending the decision on the merger cases, expected daily from the supreme court in Washington.

The committee of the chamber of commerce had an appointment yesterday afternoon with Mr. Shoup, the results of which have not yet been learned. Meanwhile the city trustees have taken no action on the application of Mr. E. D. Goode for a franchise from Broadway and Glendale avenue eastward to Adams and down that street to the city limits. Mr. Goode believes that he can finance this project and build through to a connection with the yellow car line to Eagle Rock. Property owners and business men on the East Side seem ready to back this project if the Pacific Electric does not take action soon. Meanwhile the congestion of freight at Brand boulevard and Broadway would seem to indicate the necessity for some action being taken by the railroad people to meet the constantly increasing demand upon it, both in regard to freight and passenger traffic.

GLENDALE

Its Growth and Development—Details of Its Upbuilding

There was a time not so long ago when that portion of the San Fernando Valley in which the rapidly growing cities of Glendale and Tropic and the equally rapid growing communities around the edges of these places, was known only to the people who had interests therein and to a few others. But that time has passed and now the inquiries from the rest of the world for particulars as to the reasons for the present development are becoming insistent and numerous, hence the DEVELOPMENT EDITION OF THE GLENDALE NEWS.

The census of 1910 gave credit to Glendale for 2734 population. At that time the city had been incorporated about three years and embraced a territory about a mile and a half square. Since that time a number of efforts at annexation of adjoining territory, principally on the west side, have been made. One of these resulted a year ago last October in the addition of the greater portion of the section known as "West Glendale" to the city, this comprising something like a half mile strip west of Central avenue, touching the San Fernando Road at one point. This added about 1500 people to the population. In April last another annexation of territory gave to Glendale a small section in the neighborhood of Casa Verdugo, east of Brand boulevard as far north as Stocker street, thence running over the mountain northward, eastward and southerly so as to include the lower portion of Verdugo Canon, in which arises the water supply of Glendale and Tropic. This added territory about doubled Glendale's area but did not bring in much of an addition to the population of the city, the principal object being to put within the power of the municipality the control of the water source so as to regulate sanitary conditions.

A special census carefully taken two months ago for the purpose of qualifying for a Free-holders Charter (now being prepared) gave a population of over 5,000. The influx of new home builders in the past two months has been unprecedented and a fair estimate of the number of people within the city limits at present falls but little short of six thousand.

The assessed valuation of the city for the present year not including the last annexation, is $2,797,230. The total tax roll $30,863, made up by a rate of $1.18, except on the west side annexed territory which is 1.68. The assessment to be made next March will show a large increase, as the busiest period in the history of the city's building, as shown by statement elsewhere in this issue, is now on.

The spirit of progress which has animated the city government ever since the beginning of the city, has been in no way more manifest than in the street improvement work, and this one accomplished fact has done as much as anything else to assist in the building up of the city. In all the territory within the municipality there is a total of about fifty-five miles of streets and of these twenty-five miles have been improved, principally by the petrolium process although recent work has been of a more permanent nature, the work having a broken rock base. Two of the largest contracts for street work that have been let in the city are now nearing completion, these being the old Verdugo Road on the east side and Sixth street, the former running through the city north and south and the latter traversing it in the opposite direction. Both of these roads are connecting links in the county highway system and place Glendale in the center of two important routes of travel.

Elsewhere will be found a sketch of the Glendale lighting system, which has been in operation over two years. This improvement has been another very important factor in the development of the city. Municipal ownership at that time was an experiment and the people were not without some misgivings as to the outcome, but their action in bonding their property for this step forward has been amply justified by experience, and the system has in no way been a burden on taxpayers, but on the contrary an asset of great value.

In this era of rapid transportation, every community is dependent to a large extent upon the railroads which convey its citizens to and fro. Glendale owes its reditvity to the Pacific Electric Railway Company which laid its tracks and erected its trolley between Glendale and Los Angeles in 1906. The growth of the entire western side of the city dates from that time, there being previously no houses except an occasional farmer's home in the section west of Jackson street. One of the objects of the promoters, in building the road was to develop that section of Glendale and that result surely and swiftly followed. One of the first subdivisions to profit by the solution of the transportation problem was the "Lomita Park" tract, consisting before subdivision of the Goodell (originally Crow) orange orchard containing nearly 100 acres. This sold off rapidly and is now a closely built up community of homes. Following this there was a rapid building up of the section along the railroad right of way, gradually spreading out from the more densely settled portions on both sides of the town. A recent review of building operations discloses the following interesting details.

The Borthick tract, between Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue south of Ninth street containing 15 acres. This was subdivided about five years ago. Twenty-four residences have been erected on it, all of which are occupied. This is fairly indicative of the growth of adjoining tracts in every direction in that section, many of the houses being of a high class and as a rule are surrounded by well kept lawns and flower gardens, denoting the fact that they are occupied by their owners.

Ninth street, east of Glendale avenue has built up rapidly in the last three years, as many as twenty new residences having been erected within the limits of a half dozen blocks. North of Ninth street the Garden Home tract has furnished a large number of desirable building lots in the same length of time, upon which a number of families have built and made their homes. North of this lies the Childs tract of twenty acres, recently put on the market. Streets have been opened through it, curbs and sidewalks been constructed, many of the lots sold and about a dozen houses already occupied.

Going back to that portion of Glendale west of Brand boulevard, there is the Oak Knoll tract, between Central and Brand, consisting of 13 acres. This was subdivided four years ago and has 24 houses to its credit.

Its Growth and Development

has been that of the Valley View Tract on the west side of Central avenue consisting of 120 acres. This is not so recent however as the other cases mentioned, the tract being put on the market about six years ago and building up in a remarkably short time thereafter. It is now one of the most thickly populated sections of the city, to which it was annexed a year ago. The Kenilworth tract just outside the city on the west side is one of the most recent sections opened up. It contains sixty acres of land and is divided into 350 lots of which about 200 have been sold within the past six months. The new streets opened through the tract have been improved by the promoters in a manner above the average of such work, one upon which work is now progressing has a crushed rock base similar to the Glendale city specifications. Twenty houses have been built and plans are being made for many more. Restrictions in this tract are $1800.

The Livingston tract between First and Second streets, Isabel and Louise streets, consisting of about 100 lots, is a high class subdivision that has recently proved its popularity by the number of homes erected there during the past year, every lot having been disposed of since the tract was put on the market about four years. It was only within the last two years that building began, fourteen residences being erected in that time.

These are a few samples chosen at random to show a fair average. None of the tracts named are in any way isolated, but all adjoin sections equally built up and with similar prospects for the immediate future.

One building firm averages three houses a month and has done so for the past year, averaging a total cost of $150,000 annually. The manager informed us that in every instance the houses have been sold by the time they were finished. All builders are not as fortunate, but as a rule home builders stand ready to purchase as soon as houses are completed. The firm just mentioned has now ten residences in course of construction. Two or three building concerns in Los Angeles are constantly at work subdividing and building in the city and around its edge.

VALUES.

In a general way it may be said that within a period of five years the value of property has increased three fold. In the business section the increase has been greater. On Broadway between Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue, lots are now being held at $5000 which one year ago could have been bought for $3500. There are still desirable building lots to be secured for from $500 upwards. Acreage on the outskirts of the city brings from $1500 to $2000. The best feature of the real estate transactions generally is the fact that the property is usually bought for the purposes of improvement, speculative sales being in the minority.

SUCCESS IN BUSINESS.

There are some of the old copy-book maxims which are as true today as at the time they were evolved from the brain of Esop or "Poor Richard," which means that they will be recognized as being true as long as human beings inhabit the earth.

Among these sayings that have become proverbs, none are more familiar than the one which assures us that "Honesty is the best policy." Outside the circle in which business men move and have their being, an idea prevails that the bulk of the dishonesty of the world is found in the ranks of the great army that carries forward the world's business. It would be difficult to prove this proposition, on the contrary if one would start out to find quickly an honest man of proved probity, he could do no better than go at once into the merits of trade, for successful business generally is founded upon the principle of the proverb quoted above. No one would be foolish enough in this age of the world however to assume that the possessor of this one essential requirement would necessarily prove a success in his undertakings. Industry and intelligence are other essential factors in the making of a successful man or woman in business.

Opportunity counts for much, the ability to recognize it counts for more. This leads us to the examples in our community that the man who possesses these attributes mentioned and that the capital necessary to establish a foundation for success is not necessarily measured in dollars.

Six years ago a young man landed in Glendale with the sum of twenty-five cents in his pockets and not much else to speak of outside his natural endowments. He was already in debt for the price of a ticket from Chicago to California. He went into debt still deeper very shortly, but he was willing to work and work came in his way. This story is not an advertisement and as a consequence we cannot give the details of his success that would make it more interesting, owing to the fact that they would serve to identify him. But he saw a business opportunity, found a friend who believed in his honesty and helped him to negotiate a small loan at the local bank and buy today possesses and branch into a business career. From time to time he added to his stock in trade and proceeded to grow up with the town. Today he carries on the largest business in his line that the place affords altho having a number of competitors. His stock has increased tenfold at least, he has accumulated a wife and a pleasant home which he owns and has valuable business and income producing property besides.

Here is another case. A young man came here about twenty-five years ago from an eastern state for his health. He was not strong and had not been accustomed to hard work, but he had indomitable energy and an inherited stock of industry. He engaged to do farm work for the sum of $25 a month and board. A years work produced the small amount of work necessary to start him in business. He invested it and increased it a very little. He became enamored of the orange producing business and planted seed, produced nursery stock, learned how to do budding, rented some land and raised the trees being sure that his buds from the best stock. He bought land on the installment plan and planted his orchard. A little later he went into the lemon business the same way. Meanwhile, as the years passed he worked, not on his own land only, but at outside employment part of the time. He did not find time for indulgence in many of the popular pastimes of the young, spent nothing on cigarettes or other means used so often by youngsters to dissipate their natural energies and warp their judgment. He just hung on and persevered. Well, he too, accumulated a family and his property today represents probably two thousand dollars for every one of the twenty-five years spent in this part of the country. These examples could no doubt be multiplied, but these two cases came under the writer's personal observation and are sufficient to "point a moral" and to prove that the possibilities of today just here in the early years of the century, exist for all who have the intelligence and the courage to catch them as they pass.

HOW ONE MAN SUCCEEDED.

More than twenty years ago a delicate man whom the doctors "Back East" said could not live two months if he stayed in that climate, arrived in California. His having a letter of introduction to a gentleman living in Glendale brought him to this neighborhood. The Southern Pacific having given the impetus to the settlement of Southern California by completing its line from the north, the large Spanish grants were already sold and subdivided into ten and twenty acre ranches. Money being scarce at that time most of the land was sold on easy terms. The ranch industry was having a boom and our tenderfoot caught the fever and bought ten acres of sage brush and cactus, on time. The land was not cheap even then as the price paid was $250 per acre. Nursery stock was scarce. From a ranch nearby he obtained the seedlings that had dropped and with his own hands squeezed out the seeds, planted them in boxes, and after grubbing out the sage brush and cactus, planted the small plants in rows for nursery stock. The plants grew and thrived and in due time were set out for the orchard. He became ambitious and bought ten acres at the same price and on the same terms. He was now in debt $5000. He was also healthy and happy, and the work was fascinating. This second ten acres he sold as soon as the trees were large enough and this helped to lessen his debt. He did this several times, buying bare acres and setting them out with his own nursery stock and paying all the way from $350 to $600 per acre. In each case he came out ahead, finally buying 10 acres which he set out to lemons and kept with twelve of the original acres set to oranges. The first orange crop yielded $5.00. The first crop of lemons $25. It was a long, long time before the groves began paying expenses. But little by little, year by year, the gain was greater. Increased yield meant greater expenses. Dry years meant more water. Much of the coveted gain went into a hole in the ground, and machinery. But finally after many ups and downs (principally downs), strict economy, pure grit, pluck and industry won. The goal was reached, the land paid for, the trees still beautiful and thrifty. There were many discouragements and anxious days and nights but he never lost his cheerful, hopeful spirit; and his honesty and happy disposition gained for him good friends and true, who helped him over some of the hard places. He stands today on Easy Street an example of sturdy industry and pluck and a credit to his pioneer ancestors who came to the new world to settle over two hundred and forty-six years ago, and who left behind them as heritage a sturdiness of constitution which triumphed over disease, with the help of the Glendale climate.

THE FLOWER BUSINESS

There are numerous advantages derived from the proximity to a large city, which is enjoyed by this section and among them may be mentioned the ability to market certain perishable products without undue delay. This makes it possible for a number of people, ladies in particular, to be in the flower selling business, more or less extensively. In a few places, in Glendale and Tropic there are from one to three acres devoted to flower culture. One of these places is at this time sending into the Los Angeles market daily from fifty to one hundred dozen chrysanthemum blooms and receives daily the year 'round orders for loose flowers and set pieces for weddings and funerals. Roses, violets and carnations are the principal flowers in demand. A shelter of lath is used in some places to protect from occasional frosts and is found entirely effective.

HOW IT APPEARS TO A STRANGER

Asked for a contribution to this issue, a comparative stranger to this section, enumerated them as they appeared to him as follows: Finest climate in Southern California, magnificent view of foothills and mountains. Fine schools, churches, and social organizations. Wide and well cared for streets well lighted at night. Just the right distance from Los Angeles, with fine car service. Preponderance of cultured and refined residents. A clean city morally, the welfare of the rising generation considered. Fastest growing small city in the state.

Real Estate Section

The growth of Glendale during the last twelve months is best demonstrated by the logic of cold figures to convince even some of her optimistic residents of the actual extent of her growth. The following figures, taken from the books of Building Inspector Barker, will serve to give an exact and truthful idea of the building done here since Nov. 1st, 1911. It is given by months in order that the steady increase may be noted and appreciated.

Month	Number of permits	Value of Bldgs. erected 1911
November	54	$81,115
December	47	72,489
1912
January	45	46,020
February	32	37,736
March	27	65,750
April	57	43,280
May	45	40,215
June	35	36,910
July	38	53,610
August	52	65,109
September	48	46,745
October	50	66,075
Total	530	$654,044

Of this amount of building fully fifty per cent has been new dwellings, and the larger number of these have been occupied by new families.

There have been built in Glendale during the past year the following new buildings for business purposes and of a public character. Their value runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. They are all substantially built and any of them is an ornament to any business community.

EDWARD H. WESTON

Photographer.
Almost hidden by palms, banana plants and shrubbery; just north of Tropic avenue on Brand boulevard, with only a modest sign board with the legend "Weston" on it, is the studio of Weston, the photographer. The studio itself is a gem, a diminutive bungalow, built by the artist, but it houses one of the most complete photographic plants in the country. It is not remarkable for size, but for class of equipment and facilities for doing artistic work it is the last word. The artist himself is not a giant in stature, but as an artist—and the word is used in the fullest sense—he looms large. His modesty makes difficult the securing of such a story as this, but the "News" man is "some photographer" himself, and patient questioning and the expert use of his specialty is the portraits of children, the most difficult branch of the art.

In the October number of each of the three leading photographic journals of the country one of Mr. Weston's portraits is published, and high praise given his work. One of them is a beautifully posed portrait of Miss Atala Browning of Glendale.

Two of his portraits were hung at the third annual convention of the Photographers' Association of America, an honor accorded to no other artist in Southern California, and to but two other artists in the state.

Mr. Weston has the faculty of keeping abreast of or ahead of the improvements in his art, and his work is bringing him recognition from all over the country. He makes sitting by appointment only, and his prices, the quality of the work considered, are most reasonable.

THE RUSSELL PURITY BAKERY

The Russell Purity Bakery, 422 W. Broadway, is a concern whose products are of high class. The first requirement of the establishment is cleanliness—entire cleanliness. The wall of the workroom shine with it, and the floor is as clean as your own. The racks, tables, trays and other utensils are clean to the last degree, and the white-clothed workers look as if they were living up to the motto of the establishment. The building occupied a brick, new and substantial, 20x80 ft. storeroom in front and work sections are divided by a swinging door and it swings both ways, and swings easily. Inspection is not only welcomed but invited.

The firm make and sell at wholesale and retail a complete line of pies, cakes, rolls and bread. Their bread they call "Purity Bread" and each loaf is wrapped in a sanitary wrapper, proof against dirt and germs, and it bears the legend which a visit to the establishment will bear out, "Baked in a Clean Bakery."

Mr. L. C. Russell, the proprietor, is another of the many young business men who have been attracted by the unsurpassed residence facilities and the business opportunities of Glendale, and since locating here in July, 1910, has built up a handsome, growing business.

GLENDALE FEED AND FUEL CO.

This firm are dealers in hay, grain, coal, poultry supplies and seeds of all kinds. They are located at 406 South Glendale avenue and their establishment covers 50x125 feet floor space. They also have hay barn and wood yard at 240 Howard street. Their business extends up and down the valley from the city proper. They use two delivery wagons constantly and are contemplating the adding of still another.

Mr. R. M. Brown, the proprietor, purchased the business in June, 1912, and has been giving it his personal attention since that time. Mr. Brown is a native of Iowa, but came to California from Washburn, N. D., where he was engaged in the lumber business.

At No. 417 Brand Boulevard, Parker & Sternberg Block, may be found the very latest addition to the business of our fast growing city. On Friday, Nov. 1st, the doors of the large storeroom were thrown open, and the public permitted to view the very extensive display of furniture and general household furnishings with which the room was packed, the goods having been several days in arriving and unpacking.

To say that visitors were much surprised at the magnitude and variety of the display, is a modest statement of the facts, for it could be seen at a glance that it was the purpose of the proprietors to furnish everything needed in fitting out a mansion or cottage, from basement to garret, with everything needed in the furniture line, and up to date in pattern and style. Elegant extension tables, round and square patterns; Chairs, Rockers and Diners, the very latest in style, and variety of finish and in dark or light colors; Bureaus, Bedsteads, Lounges, Couches, Stands, Writing Desks, Bedding, Mattresses, Pillows, Blankets, and a large display of elegant Rugs.

GLENDALE, CAL.

F. W. PIGG.

It is difficult for many new residents who come to Southern California to grasp fully the changed conditions with reference to building matters. In many cases they come here, after having built several residences in other sections of the country, build here according to their own ideas only to find later that they have built something entirely unfitted to our climate.

This is the province of the home builder. He is able to advise as to floors, material to be used, and form of construction to be followed and his advice coming from a varied experience, is valuable indeed.

Mr. Pigg has probably built more fine bungalows than any man in Southern California. He has been located in Glendale about four years and several hundreds of the "classiest" bungalows and residences are his handiwork. He is thoroughly experienced as to value of materials, styles and quality of plumbing and lighting fixtures, and general building conditions in our section. He is reliable, believes in honest construction at honest prices and has that reputation in our community. He is an active, progressive citizen and is a booster for Glendale.

J. R. EDWARDS.

Mr. Edwards on November 11th purchased the Walker restaurant and ice cream parlor at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway and will operate it in future along entirely different lines. Under the former management the restaurant department has been serving a regular lunch at noon. This will be discontinued and short orders will be served all day and until 10 p. m.

This has always been the leading restaurant of Glendale. The location is the best in the city and the patronage has always been good.

The establishment has a fine soda fountain and especial attention will be given to the serving of ice cream and fancy drinks. Mr. Edwards also intends to carry a fine line of candies and confectionery.

The place is beautifully furnished, the store room is commodious, finely lighted, and kept immaculately clean. Mr. Edwards has come to California recently from Arizona. He has had a wide experience in the business, is a young and active business man, and intends to devote his personal attention to the business and cater to high-class trade.

THANKSGIVING.

By Samuel Parker.

On every land, throughout the land,
In humble home or mansion,
In harmony do all agree
On doctrine of expansion.

Let voices raise in thanks and praise,
That each one here is able,
With appetite and weapons bright
To charge upon the table.

But e'er we charge our waists to enlarge,
Our hearts have been extended,
If e'er we dine, your hands and mine
Some brother have befriended—

If those oppressed and sore distressed
By some overwhelming sorrow,
From us have heard some cheerful
word,
To strengthen them tomorrow.

Then louder raise our songs of praise,
For all His mercies given;
Bright skies o'erhead and daily bread,
And for the hope of heaven—

For country grand, most favored land,
For church and school and college;
Achievements great, our high estate,
Which all the world acknowledge—

For home and friends, for all that tends
Good fellowship promoting,
For brave hearts true, that pledge new
To keep "Old Glory" floating—

If here, today, ye truly say
That life is worth the living,
Pass off thy plate and celebrate
This National Thanksgiving.

OUR MUNICIPAL LIGHTING SYSTEM PROGRESSIVE GLENDALE BUSINESS MEN AND FIRMS

The Story of a Successful Enterprise

Glendale's Boulevard Lighting System at Night

The Glendale municipal lighting plant dates from the 22nd of June, 1910, when the people of Glendale authorized a bond issue of $60,000 to cover the cost of a distributing system to furnish electric light and power throughout the city.

Glendale was at that time supplied by a privately owned system, but there were no street lights, and electricity was available over but a small fraction of the territory.

The first move was to buy out all the private plant within the city limits, eliminating all competition and preventing the erection of needless pole lines in the streets. A new station was built of sufficient size to permit of the growth of the system and standard pole lines erected throughout the city.

A system of tungsten street lighting was extended throughout all streets. Two hundred and eighty street lights were installed, all operated automatically by a clock at the station, which turns on and off the lights at the proper time.

In February of this year a further issue of forty thousand was authorized to extend the system into the territory annexed just previously to that time. Wherever possible these pole lines were erected in the alleys and built so as to provide for joint use by the telephone companies. Agreements were made with the telephone companies for the mutual use of poles wherever advisable, so as to reduce as far as possible the number of poles, even in the alleys, and these agreements have proved to be a very satisfactory means of giving the greatest use of these utilities with the least disfigurement of the city.

At this time, also, the system in the unincorporated territory to the north and west was taken over, this covering an area of about three square miles, and supplying electricity to about 150 consumers.

In the newly annexed territory wherever it has been possible to place poles in the alleys, street lights have been fed from underground cables, so as to light the streets without disfiguring them with poles, against which there is a constantly growing objection.

For supplying current to these street lights a single conductor cable is used. This cable is first insulated, then the insulation is protected against moisture with a lead covering, which in turn is protected from injury by a double wrapping of steel tape. This furnishes a cable which is secure from injury, but is as flexible as ordinary hose, and is a great improvement over former methods of installation. There are 195 lamps on this system which have been completed only a few days.

HOW LOS ANGELES GROWS

To those who are interested in the steps of the growth of Los Angeles not only in population but in point of area, some data recently compiled by the city engineer's office is here reproduced:

The total area within the old Pueblo boundaries as outlined in the Spanish Grant, 28.01 square miles. This was the area up to 1859 when the southern extension of the city was made, taking in 1.20 square miles. October 18, 1895, was the date of the annexation of the Highland Park section which increased the city's area by 1.41 square miles. The southern and western boundaries were again extended April 2, 1896, which added 10.18 square miles to the city. Other annexation or consolidation elections were held as follows:

1899, June 12, Garvanza, annexation, .69 square miles.
1899, June 12, University, annexation, 1.77 square miles.
1906, Dec. 26, "Shoestring," annexation, 18.64 square miles.
1909, Aug. 28, Wilmington, consolidation, 9.95 square miles.
1909, Aug. 28, San Pedro, consolidation, 4.61 square miles.
1909, Oct. 27, Colegrove, annexation, 8.72 square miles.
1910, Feb. 7, Hollywood, consolidation, 4.45 square miles.
1910, Feb. 28, E. Hollywood, annexation, 11.11 square miles.
1912, Feb. 9th, territory adjacent to city, annexation, 7.90 square miles.
The total area of Los Angeles now is 107.12 square miles.
The growth in population has kept pace with the growth in area and a good deal more, as a glance at the table herewith presented will show:

Population, approximately: 1880, 11,000; 1890, 50,000; 1900, 102,000; 1910, 319,000; 1912, 450,000.

THE POULTRY BUSINESS

The "chicken business" is an important feature of the people's industries, so many of them being interested in it although in a small way generally. There are in the neighborhood of Glendale and Tropic, however, a number of people who have made the production of poultry and eggs a specialty and have prospered accordingly. At the head of the list stands Mr. C. M. Walton of Central avenue, Casa Verdugo, who carries the industry on a strictly business and scientific basis and has made it a commercial success. Mr. Walton ships large quantities of eggs for hatching purposes to outside places. He has on an average about two thousand laying hens in addition to chickens of all ages. Mr. V. A. Carr of West Fourth street is also in the business on a large scale, having about the same number of fowls as Mr. Walton. These two are the only men in the business whose stock is numbered by thousands. After them come the people who have from a thousand fowls down to a hundred or so, probably about twenty of them in the neighborhood, with a total stock of about fifteen thousand laying hens and other fowls in proportion. Of course every well regulated family with backyard facilities has a dozen hens or so to produce the eggs for home consumption.

CITRUS PRODUCTS

Being a small city of "magnificent distances," there is room in the outlying sections for a few orchards of citrus fruit, a reminder of the time when previous to the business of city building, the residents were generally fruit growers. There are four packing houses within the city limits, only two of which are in business the year 'round. The principal one of these makes the following report of the business of the season just completed:

Navel oranges shipped	Cars
Valencia oranges shipped	30
Lemons	45
Total	128

These were all hauled out on the branch of the Salt Lake Railway Company's system, running from Los Angeles to Glendale, a relic of the boom day of twenty-five years ago when Glendale first appeared on the map. The total citrus product of Glendale and vicinity may be fairly estimated at two hundred carloads.

INDEPENDENT LUMBER COMPANY

The type of building, both residential and that put into business blocks and public buildings, calls for the keeping of a quality of goods and of a sort of a stock that is unusual in a city the size of Glendale.

The products of this home company have attained an enviable reputation among our people. They carry lumber, sash and doors, all sorts of mill work, lath and plaster, brick and everything a well stocked lumber company ought to have.

Their pride is in the completeness of their stock, and they can satisfy even the man from Missouri as to the entire truth of their advertising slogan, "Anything from pig pen to palace."

They have a strictly modern plant, and have made many improvements since purchasing the business about one and one-half years ago. They have furnished the lumber, mill work and interior finish for many residences in Glendale and vicinity and are at all times ready to furnish estimates in their line.

They are in thorough touch with the demands of the trade here, and are in an especially advantageous position, from long experience and thorough knowledge of the building conditions in this section to advise with prospective builders of homes and business blocks in this vicinity.

The firm is a distinct addition to our business community. Mr. J. W. Stauffacher is president and active manager of the firm and the offices and yards are at the corner of Second street and the Salt Lake Railway tracks.

GLENDALE DYE WORKS AND LAUNDRY

A business that has assumed considerable importance, of recent years is the cleaning and putting in order of wearing apparel. Formerly, rusty and faded looking clothing was given away or made over into clothing for the juvenile members of the family. Now we telephone the cleaning establishment our old suit is called for, given into the hands of the expert cleaners and presto, it is returned to us looking like new. The success largely on the skill of the cleaners, and it is a highly specialized business. The Glendale Dye Works, of which Mr. H. M. Merrill is proprietor, employs only the most expert help and they are able to successfully renew garments of the most perishable nature. Special attention is given to the cleaning of ladies' fine dresses and waists, fine curtains and, in fact, all delicate fabrics.

Gentlemen's suits and overcoats are cleaned and dyed and a department for making men's clothes to order is kept. The firm employs six persons and runs two delivery wagons. Their work has gained favorable recognition in Glendale and the valley.

GLENDALE STABLES AND GLENDALE TRANSFER CO.

This is a well appointed livery establishment on Glendale avenue near Broadway. Mr. W. J. Pierce is proprietor. A general livery business is carried on, rigs of all descriptions are kept for hire and a boarding stable is in connection.

Mr. Pierce also deals in horses and his barn is headquarters for the trade in that line. His horses and rigs are kept in fine condition and each branch of his business receives his careful personal attention.

Easton Bros. & Bullis, Auto Express and Transfer

This enterprising firm make their headquarters at the Glendale stables and do an extensive transfer and express business. They maintain an auto express which makes daily trips to Los Angeles. They make a specialty of the moving of furniture, household goods and pianos in Glendale and near-by towns. Their telephones are Home 682 and Sunset 82.

W. T. ASHTON

Mr. Ashton is the successor of the firm of Wilkinson & Ashton, established some time ago. The new firm took charge about September 1st and the contracts in its hands are keeping Mr. Ashton and five workmen busy, and the word "busy" is used advisedly—they are all working. He has been a plumber for 25 years, every man in the employ of the firm is a competent workman, and they do high grade work.

The firm does a general plumbing business, makes repairs, installs heating plants and does steam and gas fitting. All its work is guaranteed to pass the most rigid inspection and they have the necessary equipment to handle extensive contracts.

Mr. Ashton is a progressive and active business man and live citizen, and a Glendale booster—he says "it's a good town."

A. LINDSAY

Mr. Lindsay is another young business man who, attracted by Glendale's charm as a residence city and by its business possibilities, has located here, and gone into business.

He has purchased the business and good will of C. C. Arrowsmith, formerly in business at the same location, 568 Broadway, and is prepared to do tailoring, both ladies' and mens, and all sorts of cleaning, pressing and repairing. His specialty is first class work at reasonable prices. It's a good motto, and strict adherence to its precepts will bring Mr. Lindsay his share of the business of Glendale and vicinity.

VALLEY MACHINERY CO.

This firm runs a first class machine shop and their shop equipment is complete. They repair engines, motors, automobiles, pumping plants, and do all kinds of brazing.

Mr. L. G. Bramble is the proprietor and he is a machinist of years of experience. He employs competent help and his work is guaranteed to the fullest extent.

GLENDALE MARKET

No problem of the dining room, hotel or restaurant is harder to solve than that of the meat supply. It is a pleasure to find a reliable market, and a reliable meat dealer who does his best to fill the bill.

Such a market is the Glendale Market, at 516 W. Broadway. Mr. C. W. Ingledue is the proprietor. In addition to the facilities for business furnished by the market itself, he operates two delivery wagons, which reach his customers in Glendale, Tropic, Casa Verdugo, La Crescenta and outlying territory.

There has just been installed in the market a modern cooling system, a one-ton refrigerating machine made by the York Manufacturing Co. This machine cools the show cases, the large market refrigerator, a cold storage room for stock supply and in addition turns out five hundred pounds of ice daily, which is all used in the market for the cooling of fish, oysters and other like commodities. This plant has just been completed and put into successful operation. It maintains a perfectly even temperature in the entire storage capacity, which adds in a large measure to the proper keeping of the meats and insures perfect refrigeration and sanitation.

Mr. Ingledue is a man of years of experience in his business. He is strictly up to date and progressive and one of Glendale's active boosters.

TUPPER-ROBINSON CO. (INC.)

This firm has commodious offices in the Glendale bank building, with a home on Glendale avenue. They do general real estate business, are resident agents for a number of leading fire insurance companies, and have the agency for Glendale and vicinity of the Chalmers and Maxwell automobiles. The firm has been very successful in handling subdivision property and in some measure concentrate their efforts in that direction. They have on the market the Piedmont tract in Glendale, the Phelps tract on Third street in Glendale, the Brimwich tract in Eagle Rock and the Midway subdivision in the San Fernando valley, a tract of 311 acres cut up into 5, 10 and 20-acre subdivisions, and is the best orange and lemon land in the valley. They have been located in Glendale for about four years and are easily among the leaders in their line.

The firm is made up of H. C. Tupper, Spencer Robinson, and the office manager is Leon Samting, an active practical real estate man. Their offices, their business connections, the extent of their operations and also their personal characteristics bear abundant evidence to the success of their business. Each member of the firm is a firm believer in the many advantages of Glendale and the San Fernando valley and they exploit such advantages in their practical way every day of the year.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

Mr. Moore's slogan is "The Store with a Million Articles," and in its defense and as a demonstration of its truthfulness he offers to all comers the opportunity for a count. There is a 55-story building, the tallest in New York City, that is a monument to two ideas which are exemplified in Mr. Moore's store. They are: Have your goods where people can see them. Have them plainly marked. His counters are covered with a multitude of the new merchandise, convenient of inspection, and all marked in plain figures.

Mr. Moore's stock, while coming under the classification of "General Merchandise" is unusual. He intends to keep the odd lines, the sort of things you otherwise have to visit several stores to find, and he wants to convince his patrons that it pays to come to the People's Store first. Mr. Moore is a new comer. He has been a resident of Los Angeles for some time, where he owns a comfortable home, but he has put it on the market and intends to make his future home in Glendale.

SUPERIOR ELECTRIC CO.

This firm is a leader in their line. They do electric wiring, install and equip motors, but the special feature of their business is the designing, manufacturing and installation of electric lighting fixtures. They carry several lines of particularly fine stock fixtures which are carried by no other firm in the vicinity. The greater part of their fixtures are made to order, and from the designs of the firm. They are made to harmonize with the different styles of interior finish. They have been in business in Glendale two and a half years and are well known for fine workmanship. They recently installed the lighting systems and fixtures of the Baptist and First Presbyterian churches.

The firm is composed of Mr. E. R. Naudair and Mr. J. A. Newton. Both are energetic, capable business men and they are building up a rapidly growing and valuable business.

JOONA MAE D. ROBBINS, M.D., D.O.

Score again for Glendale. Dr. Robbins has for the past seven years lived and practiced in Los Angeles. She owns a pretty home in Huntington Park, lived among congenial friends, and was prosperous professionally. By some chance she visited Glendale, came again, and still again, and she has finally located here. Dr. Robbins has a ten-year old daughter, and was won over by Glendale's pre-eminence as a residence city and by her splendid schools.

The doctor has comfortable, cozy apartments in the new Parker-Sternberg building on Brand boulevard, and for the time being her office is at the same location.

Dr. Robbins is a graduate of Los Angeles College of Osteopathy and of Hahnemann Pacific Medical School at San Francisco. She intends to specialize in diseases of women, children and obstetrics.

HOMER D. BROWN

"Builder of Homes"

Among other things Glendale is rapidly becoming a city of homes, and for many reasons more homes of the better class are being built here at present than in any Southern California city of equal size.

Many of our prospective residents—the most of them—are either from states where the climate is more rigorous, where the style of building is very different and where different materials are used. They are inexperienced in the proper way to plan and build a comfortable pleasant home in Southern California and it is because of this state of affairs we have the profession of "home builder." He is the specialist who furnishes the plans, advises as to construction, or, in many cases, builds the house complete and turns it over to the owner.

Mr. Brown has been in business in Glendale for five years and many of our pretty residences are his handiwork. He is equipped to furnish plans and estimates, to do building and general contract work and has his own force of painters and plumbers. He keeps employed a large force of skilled workmen in the lines mentioned, and one of his virtues is promptness.

Another is ability. Mr. Brown is an aggressive young business man, thoroughly in touch with Glendale's rapid improvement and a believer in and a booster for her future growth.

MRS. C. H. EUDENMILLER

Millinery

If it isn't necessary, if you are looking for "class" in millinery to go to the city—go to Mrs. Eudenmiller. You will find it in her establishment, no matter how exacting you are, and you will further find an entire absence of high prices, due to "Broadway" rentals and city expense.

Mrs. Eudenmiller's aim is exclusive, distinctive millinery of the class that our Southern California people demand. Glendale people are loyal to Glendale's merchants, none more so, but the merchant must keep the stock and the goods must be of a character and style to withstand city competition.

Mrs. Eudenmiller is a designer of experience and taste. Her store is a dream in white enamel and rich furnishings. Every piece of goods leaving the establishment has her personal supervision and she is a buyer of discrimination and fine taste. Her stock is complete, the quality is superb, the fit and the workmanship is superb. There is a manicure department and a hair dressing department for the ladies, both liberally patronized. The store is located at 405 Brand boulevard.

J. N. MCGILLIS

338 Brand Blvd. and Broadway and Glendale Ave.

While Glendale as a business center is hardly sufficiently aged to have raised a crop of pioneers, if the classification were made Mr. McGillis would be in the list. The main store is on Brand boulevard, and is one well stocked with staple and fancy groceries. Branch Store No. 1 is at the intersection of Broadway and Glendale avenues and was established for the greater convenience of his customers in that end of the city.

He is agent for "Empress" flour and "Swastika" crackers, and carries full lines of teas and coffees, and of the better grades of canned goods.

Mr. McGillis operates a cash basket grocery and handles his business on a very close margin of profit. He has the reputation of being a unique, shrewd advertiser. His slogan being, "We have a passion for low prices," and he was the originator of a business letter contest among school children recently that was much talked about.

THORP-BOSS GROCERY CO.

This is one of the neatest stores in Glendale. It is situated on Broadway near Glendale avenue, in the bank building.

The proprietors are Mr. F. E. Thorp and C. E. Bass. Both gentlemen have had years of experience in the grocery business, and their two years' experience in business in Glendale has brought them thoroughly in touch with Glendale trade. They have an unusually complete stock of staple and fancy groceries, vegetables and fruits. They pay particular attention to prompt delivery of customers' orders, believe in carrying only the best brands, and that a satisfied customer is the best recommendation. Both members of the firm are active, aggressive business men and are progressive in business methods.

CHAS. M. LUND

Glendale Implement House

A history of the business development of Glendale and its vicinity would be incomplete without a reference to Chas. M. Lund. His establishment is at 374-80 Third street, and he is one of our pioneer business men. He handles wagons, bugles, plows and cultivators, lawn mowers, hose and a full line of garden tools and also carries a complete stock of harnesses.

He operates a large and well equipped blacksmith shop and does horseshoeing and general blacksmithing.

Mr. Lund, by keeping the best of goods and selling them at reasonable prices, has built up a large business.

GLENDALE FURNITURE CO.

This store is filled with a stock of up to date furniture which is sold at prices much lower than the city stores. Mr. Hennon reasons that he has access to the same buying market, that he has the capital to buy on the most favorable terms, and that he has the high class discriminating trade to take the goods. And that he can carry a city business can be represented in the prices of his goods. This is the policy of the store, and it is proving a success.

GLENDALE HARDWARE CO. (INC.)

662 Broadway

Ordinarily age is productive of decrepitude, but this firm is one of the exceptions which proves the correctness of the rule. The Glendale Hardware Co. is the oldest incorporated firm in Glendale. They were incorporated April 18, 1906. The officers are S. F. Hinckley, president, and R. L. Hinckley, manager. The firm carries a most complete line of hardware, particularly builders' hardware. Their paint room is a store in itself. It is equipped with an overhead carrier for the handling of heavy packages and their line is as complete as could be bought. They sell Sherman-Williams ready mixed paints.

They maintain an auto delivery to all parts of Glendale and vicinity, and are up to date and progressive to the last degree. They occupy floor space 23x150 feet.

The store has the personal attention of the manager, Mr. R. L. Hinckley. He is full of business energy, alive to the opportunities existing here, and is getting his share of the business. His spare time is devoted to boosting Glendale.

DR. THOS. C. YOUNG

Glendale is particularly fortunate in the high class of her residents and they in turn attract to Glendale a very high class of professional men.

Dr. Young has won a notable success in his profession. He is a graduate of the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy and also studied at Still College of Osteopathy. He is a professor of histology and physiology at Eclectic Medical College at Los Angeles and associate surgeon at the Los Angeles Osteopathic Hospital. Dr. Young has given much thought and study to the use of electricity in the treatment of disease, and is a believer in its efficiency. He has recently installed in his office at Glendale an electric apparatus which is the last word in modern electrical appliances for physicians' use. Dr. Young has been practicing in Glendale about three years. He completed a new home at 112 N. Kenmore street a few months ago and is one of Glendale's enthusiastic boosters.

CENTRAL STABLES

This establishment occupies large quarters at Broadway and Maryland avenues, and the proprietor is Mr. Frank J. Showalter. They do regular boarding of horses, cater to the transient trade, and conduct an express and storage business. They have some fancy saddle horses for hire, one of the attractions well patronized by our visitors. Mr. Showalter has about twenty-five horses, making his the largest light livery in Southern California.

Tropico Stables

This is a branch at Tropico for the accommodation of Mr. Showalter's patrons in that thriving town. His facilities for each department of his business is complete here, and all calls are answered promptly and satisfaction guaranteed. Mr. Showalter has been in business for three years and is an old resident. His advertising slogan is novel indeed and frankness itself. Read it: "Remember Frank Showalter keeps this stable and this stable keeps Frank Showalter."

SPARR FRUIT CO.

This is one of the leading industries of the section. Their pack of oranges and lemons is more extensive perhaps than of all the other fruit packers in this section, and their brand is known wherever citrus fruits are marketed. They employ from 25 to 50 people, according to season, and their yearly payroll runs from $8000 to $20,000, practically all of which is distributed in Glendale. The company owns the famous "La Crescenta" ranch at La Crescenta, which is one of the show places of California. The plant is modern all the way through, and the firm is progressive and enterprising.

They carry in stock the Mocco line of fertilizer, nitrate of soda, super phosphates and complete fertilizers. Mr. F. W. Kerrey is the manager and the extent of the business, the splendid reputation of the firm's pack, and its reputation for progressiveness, are entirely safe in his hands.

E. J. UPHAM

Mr. Upham moved, July 1, 1912, from a space in Hendricks Dry Goods Store to a store room of his own in the brick building at 1020 W. Broadway, for the sale of Singer and Wheeler & Wilson sewing machines and needles and repairs for all makes of sewing machines. Machines are sold on easy weekly or monthly payments, or a liberal discount for cash.

Mr. Upham has a fine store and his three years' business experience in Glendale have given him an enviable reputation for fair dealing.

S. B. SHEARER

Mr. Shearer is a recent addition to Glendale business firms, having established his agency here May 1st, 1912. He is not a new comer to Southern California, however, having lived here for the past eight years. He represents as agent for Glendale and vicinity the following fire insurance companies: Liverpool & London & Globe, the Aetna of Hartford, the Sun of London and the American Central of St. Louis. He is also Glendale agent for several life and accident insurance companies.

NORTON'S BAZAAR

A complete assortment of floss silks and other fancy goods materials are kept, and a line of hair goods for the ladies. The entire stock is new and fresh, is kept complete, and the store is enjoying a good patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton are enthusiastic over the advantages of Glendale.

BUSINESS MEN WHO ARE DOING THEIR PART IN DEVELOPING GLENDALE

GLENDALE SANITARIUM

If one was looking for a sanitarium site combining all the advantages of seasonable climatic conditions, pleasant surroundings, accessibility, and removal from the dust and clamor of the city, Glendale would secure the votes.

The Glendale Sanitarium is located on Broadway, convenient to the electric interurban lines, to the postoffice, banks and business houses of the city. Its grounds are spacious, beautifully cared for, and with their beautiful shrubbery, shaded walks and flowers, form one of the chief attractions of the place. The lawns are dotted with the Sanitarium's guests on practically every day of the year, enjoying the sunshine and the bracing air from mountains and ocean.

The Sanitarium is situated eight miles from Los Angeles, a ride of twenty minutes over two electric interurban lines. It is in the very shadow of the foothills, and the warmest days of summer are rendered delightful by the ocean breeze, and the nights are cool and bracing always. The section enjoys the most equable climate summer and winter of any spot on the continent, and so far as weather conditions are concerned they may be considered perfect.

The Sanitarium is owned and operated by an incorporated charitable organization, not operated for profit; and prices are made as low as possible. All ills are treated by modern sanitarium methods, except that no patients suffering from contagious or mental diseases or tuberculosis cases are received.

Special attention is given to acute and chronic digestive disorders and a course of hygienic, mechanical and dietetic measures are followed out in these cases which produce wonderful results. The patient at the same time receives a liberal education in diet and hygiene, which tends to make the recovery complete and lasting.

The spacious grounds, tennis courts, croquet grounds and walks, encourage the patients to live out of doors so much as possible, and a gymnasium is provided toward the same end—gentle physical exercise. Massage, administered by trained masseurs and nurses, is recognized as a potent factor in the treatment of many ailments, and is freely used, and electricity in its various forms and in expert and experienced hands is a recognized remedial agent.

A department for the treatment of women's diseases is maintained with a lady physician in residence. Surgical cases are given the best attention that the skill of modern, conservative surgeons of recognized ability can furnish, and skilled nurses are at call to aid their efforts.

The 700-foot altitude, the moderate temperature and the quiet, restful surroundings, are added advantages to the treatments of disease of the heart and nervous systems.

A nurses' training school of high standard is maintained.

The whole atmosphere of the Sanitarium is that of a pleasant family hotel. Abundant amusement is provided for patients and employees, the unusually large grounds furnish room for out-door activity and the roomy buildings, pleasant lounging rooms and spacious parlors all combine to remove the idea of hospital surroundings.

Mr. F. S. Dock is the manager and executive officer of the Sanitarium, and his capability and his years of experience combine to make easy of solution the many problems arising daily in the conduct of so large a business.

THE GEM FURNITURE STORE

Is a fitting institution for our Jewel City, a store recently started but intended to fill a distinct local need—that of trading new furniture, stoves and general household goods for odd articles of the same class.

The proprietor, W. H. Hall, has been in Glendale for four years, is well known in his line of work, which he has done in the past as upholsterer and mattress maker, awnings, tents, etc. Mr. Hall has had five years' practical experience as an upholsterer and carpet man, which qualifies him to venture still farther into the furniture business. A square deal to all will be assured by Mr. Hall and he will frame the slogan "We trade new goods for your old," with integrity and appreciation of public patronage.

The Gem Furniture Store will continue the upholstering and awning business as before. The store is located at Third street and Glendale avenue and Mr. Hall hopes soon to occupy also a two-story brick building now being erected on Broadway near Louise.

SCHWEITZER & FAIRCHILD Architects

Glendale is one city in Southern California in which the influence of the professional architect is easily noticeable and the location here of the firm of Schweitzer & Fairchild will undoubtedly have a far reaching effect in the architectural beauty of Glendale. While the firm was recently organized here, the members are by no means novices. Mr. B. J. Schweitzer, the senior member, is a New York architect of wide and varied experience. Mr. Logan H. Fairchild, his associate, hails from Houston, Texas, and has been very successful locally. They prepared the plans under the erection of the Glendale Grammar school and of the Dr. Thompson Hospital and Sanitarium at Burbank, a reinforced concrete structure. They also were the architects on a large brick apartment house at Long Beach.

Separate from this concern and owned by Fairchild Bros., is one of the finest custom mill plants in Glendale. They are equipped to manufacture anything from wood—cabinet work, show-cases, store, office and bank fixtures, mission furniture. However, their specialty is fine interior finish work. This branch of the business was established in a small way but grew so rapidly that they acquired property at Second and Geneva and installed more than $5000 worth of strictly modern machinery. Mr. Alex H. Fairchild assumes active management and the business is rapidly expanding. The members of these firms are all Glendale residents and are live, energetic "Jewel City Boosters."

A. L. EVES

Mr. Eves is Glendale's pioneer plumber, and his handiwork has gone into many of Glendale's business blocks and many of her public buildings and fine residences. Mr. Eves' own announcement of his line of business on his cards is "Plumbing." Under the rigid city inspection maintained in Glendale of recent years plumbing means plumbing.

and there is perhaps no community in the country where the standard is as high. Many beautiful homes have been built in Glendale in the last few years and they are all fitted with beautiful, modern and expensive plumbing. This is the sort of work done by Mr. Eves and he has done much to keep the doing of this class of work at home.

Mr. Eves' office and workrooms are at 537 W. Broadway. He furnishes estimates upon request on every sort of plumbing and is equipped to handle extensive contracts.

Personally he is a live sort of citizen who keeps in touch with what goes on and he is a Glendale booster.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

One of the best indications of the business growth of a community is the growth of its banks, if they are under sound management. The First National Bank of Glendale commenced business in 1905 and at the close of that year had deposits of about $40,000. At the date of their last statement, Sept. 4, 1912, the deposits had grown to $296,909.30, nearly $300,000.00. The total resources of the bank on the same date were $369,032.11, and its capital and surplus was $48,125.31. This is excellent growth indeed, not only indicating corresponding growth in the bank's territory but the confidence of the people of the community. The bank now has over 700 depositors, is comfortably housed on Brand boulevard near Broadway. The officers are W. W. Lee, president; M. P. Harrison, vice president; Ed. M. Lee, cashier; H. E. Francy, assistant cashier, and the board of directors is in addition to the president and vice president, D. Wight Griswold, E. U. Emery and W. H. Holliday.

The bank has a reputation through the valley for safe investments of its funds, sound loans and safe, careful banking.

WM. CHAPPELL

Mr. Chappell has been in the dry goods business here about two and one-half years and has made good. He is located in Brand boulevard and has a well selected stock of goods in his line. He has added recently a complete line of outing for the coming cool days.

Mr. Chappell believes in keeping up to date, and his stock contains no shelf-worn antiquated merchandise. He is assisted in the business by Mrs. Chappell, who gives her personal attention to the business.

HARRY HALL

General Blacksmithing. This is one of the most completely equipped shops possible. It occupies a brick building built especially for the purpose, covering 40 by 60 feet. A complete equipment of drills and other power machinery is used, all run by electricity. The shop keeps busy three forges and Mr. Hall employs two expert blacksmiths beside himself. He does general blacksmithing and horse-shoeing and maintains also a wood working department for the repair of wagons and other vehicles. Mr. Hall has been in business in Glendale for three years and in that length of time has been compelled to double the size of his establishment to take care of his trade.

MACMULLIN'S SANITARY DAIRY

"Sanitary" is a fine, mouth-filling word, but when the Board of Health is on the job to inspect the premises and catechise the proprietor as to his knowledge of the meaning of the word, it becomes a task of eternal vigilance to make the establishment fit the word. Macmullin's Sanitary Dairy is sanitary in fact as well as in name. They supply milk to 300 babies and to over that number of invalids. They supply twenty-five gallons daily to the Glendale Sanitarium, no mean recommendation in itself. The dairy is inspected every fifteen days by the Los Angeles Board of Health, as well as under the inspection of the Glendale Sanitarium, and is rated by them as always in a strictly sanitary condition.

This is the story of the milk sold by the establishment, from its source to the customer.

Macmullin's Sanitary Dairy requires about 160 cows; they are Holsteins, Jerseys and Durhams. In such proportion as to produce a well balanced milk. The four and one-half miles per acre ranch from Glendale, managed by Mr. C. Oogier, a partner in the business. They are fed as absolutely clean food as it is possible to produce or buy. Not a scrap of garbage, of restaurant slops or brewery by-products is fed. Instead, the ration is designated beef pulp, oil cake, mill feed, chopped pumpkin and citron melons, and an abundance of sweet-smelling oat hay and alfalfa meal.

The feed, except part of the hay, which is produced on their own ranch, is bought in carload lots and is stored at the ranch in cement lined tanks, free from dirt, vermin or any other sort of contamination.

The stock is watered with pure water from the ranch wells, kept in cool cement tanks and always accessible. (This is the only way they water the milk.) The stock is brushed and groomed until every vestige of dirt or manure is removed. The feeding and milking is done at the ranch in three barns. Each cow has her own particular station, and feed rack and will dispute its possession with an intruder. The milking is done by men with clean hands, into clean pails and is done in an atmosphere of quiet, insuring first class results.

The milk is run through an aerator after milking and its temperature reduced to 65 degrees, is put into clean cans, and loaded on an auto truck and taken to Glendale. Here at their creamery at 1550 Sycamore avenue, it is bottled, the bottles placed in the racks in the delivery wagons and it is ready for the customer, and is delivered immediately after milking, fresh night and morning.

The creamery is of cement, inside and out, is supplied with hot water, and the room smells as sweet as out-doors. The cans and bottles are washed and sterilized here in hot water and steam, each bottle being tested under an electric light for any speck of uncleanness. The milk is bottled by machinery, the machine which is the only one of its kind in the San Fernando valley, being made of white enamel inside and out, and it has a capacity of 1000 bottles an hour. A De Laval cream separator is installed here also, to produce cream for the routes. The dairy room is washed, floor, sides and ceiling after each bottling and is so cool and clean that the flies will not even come into it. It requires sixteen horses and fifteen men to take care of the trade of this concern.

There are four two-horse delivery wagons, two single delivery wagons, three day teams and one auto truck. The capacity of the dairy is from 1200 to 1800 quarts of milk daily and the output in dollars and cents amounts to over $3000 per month. This business has been built up by Mr. Macmullin in five years, from a start of ten cows and one employee, and an output of 85 quarts daily. Mr. Macmullin is a hustling young business man, and his wife, now secretary and treasurer of the company, has taken an active part in the building up of the business, and is a hustling business woman in her own right. They have a fine establishment, the best in the valley, and it should be a source of great pride to them.

TARR BROS. STONE CO.

This firm makes all kinds and descriptions of artificial stone work, and are also contractors in that line. The members of this firm owe their present prosperous business to their belief in the utility of concrete construction and its many advantages, particularly in the climate of Southern California. Their view is becoming widely shared by many builders, and concrete work is becoming more in demand each year.

Their designs and modern methods of construction remove from concrete structures the plain barren look formerly objected to and they have turned out universally work that is pleasing and artistic.

The firm is composed of two brothers, F. A. Tarr and W. E. Tarr. They are now making a specialty of the stone mantels which are becoming popular throughout the country.

EATON & DRYER, GROCERS

This is one of the older of Glendale's grocery establishments, the firm having been in business for about three years.

They carry a large and complete stock of groceries. They are thoroughly in touch with the requirements of the trade in Glendale and vicinity, and are adding a gratifying and comfortable increase to their business each year.

Both members of the firm are experienced grocers and both give personal attention to their business. Messrs. Eaton and Dryer are both firm believers in Glendale's future, and lose no opportunity to boost her advantages.

SMITH AND MILLER, 1025 W. Broadway

This firm is composed of Anna L. Smith and Leonora H. Miller, and was established in its present location, a new brick structure on Broadway, in July, 1912.

Their specialty is fine millinery, accent on the "fine." And they also conduct an Exchange for the sale and exchange of articles of fancy work made by the ladies of the city. Mrs. Pearson is at their store Wednesday and Saturday of each week for the purpose of giving lessons in fancy work.

Mrs. Smith has spent a number of years in the millinery department of the city stores, and is a past master of the art.

I guess the "News" man's face gave him away, for he was immediately shown some creations that were absolutely dazzling. One of them, a creation in black velvet and pink roses, filled a drawer all by itself, and it was a sizable drawer, too. One fuzzy gray one, George Washington shape, with some gold trimming, made even a man envious, and as a fitting climax a bride's hat was brought out, the tissue paper removed and it was triumphantly shoved at the "News" man. He had to admit the "class" and he further had to make some very explicit statements as to where his wife's next hat was to be bought. They have some dreams of ostrich plumes, also.

PAUL C. BUTTERFIELD Contracting Plumber

One of the flourishing industries of Glendale is the building of homes; not simply houses, but "homes." This creates a demand for fine plumbing and for more than two years Mr. Butterfield has been endeavoring to supply the demand. His show rooms and workshop are at 808 Broadway. All the work done is covered by the most rigid guarantee and it is all done under the personal supervision of Mr. Butterfield. Clever men are employed to whom liberal wages are paid, and they are of a class that deliver the goods.

Mr. Butterfield is a practical plumber. He has handled some large contracts in the city to the entire satisfaction of those contracting for his services, and he is at all times willing to submit estimates on any sort of plumbing work.

Personally Mr. Butterfield is a young man who gives his earnest attention to business and the patronage he enjoys is extensive, well deserved, and growing rapidly.

SCHILLING'S DRY GOODS STORE

This is one of the new and already successful enterprises of Glendale—it is new all through. The building is especially constructed and Schilling's is a daylight store. Schilling's is essentially a ladies' store and caters to the ladies with a heavy and particularly well selected line of dry goods. Among their specialties are "W B" corsets and they are agents in Glendale for Butterick patterns and publications. Through the connections of this store with the Schilling's Dry Goods Co. of Monrovia their buying power is immensely increased and they are not only enabled to buy more advantageously but can offer a selection of silks and dress goods that no concern of even approximate size could possibly offer. The business is actively managed by Mrs. H. D. Ronger, an able, experienced dry goods woman, under whose management it is rapidly assuming large proportions.

PAUL'S BASKET GROCERY 415 S. Brand Boulevard

This is a brand new cash store and Mr. C. A. Paul, the proprietor, brings twenty years of grocery experience to his business here. One of his special features will be a line of teas and coffees and he has installed an electric mill for this trade and intends to add his personal guarantee to all goods sold in this department. He has put in a complete line of the famous "Sunshine" biscuits, made by Loose-Wiles of Boston, a line never before sold in Glendale, and they are meeting with a flattering reception.

His store building is new, well lighted both front and rear, with cement floor and fine show windows on the boulevard, which is not complete and is being added to daily, shows experience and taste. The basket grocery idea, which is the modern application of the market principle, is very popular in other communities and should prove so here.

DALE'S CABINET SHOP

Mr. Dale is a finished cabinet maker and his establishment turns out all kinds of wood work, screen doors, sash and inside finish for houses. He makes mission furniture to order and many attractive pieces from his hands have found their way into Glendale homes.

He is the builder of the fixtures in the Glendale Hardware Co. and the Glendale Meat Market and his fixtures and show cases are of a design and finish not found in the factory made goods.

Mr. Dale has built up a fine business in the two years he has been in business in Glendale.

WILLIAMS' DRY GOODS STORE

Mr. Geo. E. Williams has used an advertising slogan for the last two years—the statement that he owned and operated "The Biggest Little Store in Glendale." Mr. Williams carries a general line of dry goods. His experience in the buying and selling of dry goods covers a period of thirty years and an inspection of his stock shows his capability.

Mr. Williams believes in Glendale and her future and says so. He says we have the finest class of citizens in the state, and he is proud to be included.

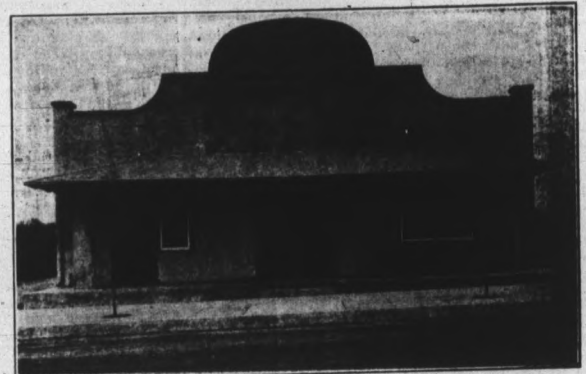

BRAND BOULEVARD GARAGE

This firm, though but recently established here, have indicated their faith in Glendale's future by a substantial investment in the city. They have opened a most complete and modern garage in one of the new brick structures on Brand boulevard, commencing business a little more than a month ago, and are already planning to enlarge their quarters and make room for a full line of Studebaker cars, for which they have the agency. They are also agents for the Excelsior motorcycle, and they have the exclusive agency for Glendale, Tropic and Burbank for the Ajax tires and inner tubes. They have purchased machinery and equipment, which is being installed as fast as it arrives, for the maintenance of a complete repair department for autos and motorcycles, and they will be equipped to do general machine work and auto repairing and rebuilding.

The firm is composed of Mr. F. H. Buehr and Mr. Edward Dale. They have come to Glendale after having fully canvassed the business population of many of the surrounding cities and are convinced that Glendale offers golden opportunities. They are of the type of hustling business men whom we like to have locate here, interested in anything that makes for the welfare of Glendale and willing to do their share toward bringing it about.

PULLIAM UNDERTAKING CO.

This is one of the most complete establishments in Southern California. Mr. C. O. Pulliam is the proprietor and he has an exceptionally fine building that was especially constructed for its purpose and it embodies every modern improvement known to the profession including a chapel, reception hall and front parlor, etc. Mr. Pulliam owns and operates his own auto ambulance and also always places an auto at the service of his patrons. A complete stock of all needed equipment is constantly carried and two qualified lady assistants are employed. Mr. Pulliam has been established here about five years, in which period of time he has demonstrated fully his fitness and capability in this delicate and important profession. Since coming here Mr. Pulliam has been active in civic affairs, particularly those that had for their object the making of Glendale a better place to live in. He has given his time freely to educational matters and at present is president of the high school board of trustees. He is a member of Masons, Odd Fellows and of Elks.

HARTFIELD HARDWARE CO.

This is a branch of the Hartfield Hardware Company, corner of Jefferson and San Pedro, Los Angeles, and was established to get the company into close business touch with their Glendale patrons. It occupies a fine concrete building in Casa Verdugo, and carries a general line of hardware. They also maintain a plumbing and tinning department. Their stock of paints is complete and they furnish any sort of glass. The manager of the store is Mr. J. E. McKeever, a thorough hardware man. As the output of the Hartfield Hardware Co. is heavy, it means economy in buying, and particularly in plumbing accessories their prices are extremely low. They make a specialty of prompt delivery, maintaining an auto, a motorcycle and a wagon.

BROADWAY GARAGE

This is a new establishment in a new brick building on Broadway near Glendale avenue.

Mr. H. M. Bruce and Mr. H. A. Waite are the proprietors, and both are expert auto men. Their machinery is all brand new and is electrically operated. The garage occupies the entire building, giving them 50x80 feet floor space and a cement floored washing space in addition is provided at the rear, occupying the rear 30 feet of the lot. The firm is equipped to do all kinds of custom machine work and will no doubt receive their share of the business.

Mr. E. M. Witt, who has secured the agency of the Mitchell automobile line, has headquarters in the Broadway Garage.

These young men are starting in business with the best modern equipment money can buy, are competent and capable and their success should be assured from the start.

WALKER JEWELRY CO.

This firm is made up of A. B. Walker and J. E. Walker, the latter being the active manager. They keep a well selected stock of watches and jewelry and do high grade repairing. They are engravers, cut, polish and mount California gems and do optical work. The firm has been in business in Glendale something more than a year and they have already earned a fine reputation for high class work. All goods sold by them are engraved free of charge, and they do watch repairing under a printed guarantee that is the strongest ever put on anywhere. They are both experts in their line and are highly pleased with Glendale as a residence city, and are gratified over the business welcome extended to them.

GLENDALE A MODERN, PROGRESSIVE CITY

SHAVERS' GROCERY
 Cecil Shaver, Proprietor

Our friends and relatives usually furnish our monuments; some men furnish their own before they become dead ones, and while they have choice in the selection of the style. Mr. Shaver had no idea of this sort when he came to Glendale and established himself in business; in fact, in looks, in disposition and general aggressiveness he is as far from the monument stage as any man to be met in a day's journey, but his store is nevertheless a monument to one man's business energy. His store is a jewel of its kind, and is filled to both doors with fresh, tasty, attractive groceries. Mr. Shaver had nine years of strenuous business training with the firm

CHAS. W. KENT & SON.
 General Contractors.

This firm advertise their specialty the building of "Classy Bungalows." Bungalow building has become a fine art in Southern California, and a firm which specializes in their construction must of necessity deliver the goods to the last degree. Kent & Son have built a great many fine residences in Glendale and vicinity, and their former customers furnish them with the highest recommendations. They make most of the plans for the houses they have erected, Mr. Roy L. Kent, the junior member, being the architect of the firm. They do also general building by contract. They prepared the plans and were the building contractors for the Parker-Sternberg building on Brand boulevard, the building just below the Parker-Sternberg building, built for the Brand boulevard garage, and they also erected the Valley Lumber Co. building on Broadway. All are fine structures, built of brick in the most substantial manner and finely finished. The varied experience of this firm makes them valuable to Glendale and their business is increasing rapidly. Both members of the firm are Glendale boosters and firm believers in its future growth.

F. L. NOBLE.
 Real Estate.

Mr. Noble is another business man who has come to Glendale after a thorough canvass of other cities. He is an enthusiastic believer in Glendale real estate for investments, and in her desirability and great advantages as a city of homes. Mr. Noble deals in acreage, in subdivision property, homes and real estate in general, and has the Glendale agency for City of New York Insurance Co. He has located his office on the car line, among the real estate colony on Brand boulevard and is doing his share of the business. He is a man of sound judgment, is a believer in booms and handles only property having solid values. He controls some very desirable property in the vicinity and believes in applying the Golden Rule in his dealings, doing by the people as he would have them do by him, and thereby has built them a good and substantial business.

THE JUVENILE SHOP.
 H. H. Faries, Proprietor.

We have men's stores, stores for the ladies, and now we have a store for the children. The Juvenile Shop located at 1107 Broadway, is the first exclusive children's store to be opened in the San Fernando Valley. It carries a complete stock of merchandise for children only up to 14 years old. The stock consists of show clothing, muslin and knit underwear, hosiery, hats, caps, bonnets, etc., also everything for infants. A new department which has been recently added is a most complete stock of toys to amuse and instruct the little ones. Mr. H. H. Faries is the proprietor of the store. It has his entire personal attention in the business. He is a merchant of experience, his stock is fresh and new and well selected, and he is building up a nice business. Personally, Mr. Faries is a hustler, active and progressive and a booster for Glendale.

GLENDALE PHARMACY

Mr. J. J. Freeman, the new proprietor of the Glendale Pharmacy at 658 Broadway, bought out last December one of the oldest drug businesses in the San Fernando Valley. Mr. Freeman comes from one of the lively cities of the Middle West, Parsons, Kansas. Since acquiring his Glendale business Mr. Freeman has added largely to the stock. His prescription department is under his personal supervision and he has installed a novelty in the form of free and prompt delivery of prescriptions. Mr. Freeman is educated in modern business methods, believes in the future of Glendale and the valley, and he has personally evinced his faith in Glendale's future growth by most substantial investments here.

JEWEL CITY MILL CO.

The present proprietor of this company took over the business of Grist Mill, in 1910, shortly after it was started, and since that time has been styled the Jewel City Mill Co. Mr. G. A. Ganahl and Mr. C. U. Mondes are the proprietors and owners of the business. Both are experienced mill and lumber men. Since purchasing the business they have more than doubled the capacity of the plant. They have enlarged and have practically renewed entirely the mechanical equipment during the last year. They furnish everything in custom mill work and design and make to order any part of interior finish. The firm recently manufactured the entire interior finishing of the new City Hall, and they have a contract for the interior trim of the new Wilson building being erected on Broadway. The members of the firm are progressive citizens, interested in the development of our community and willing to do their share of boosting public improvements and civic enterprises.

NEWBERRYS OF GLENDALE.

Crane & McGee, Props. The name of Newberry has become a sort of a standard of excellence in the retail grocery business in Southern California, and when Messrs. Crane & McGee purchased this Glendale business in November, 1912, they felt it up to them to not only keep up the Newberry standard, but to improve on it where possible. They are situated at 1100 W. Broadway. They have a store room attractively finished in white enamel and they carry a most complete stock of the better class of groceries, vegetables and fruits. They maintain a separate department for the sale of meats, equipped with a modern cooling system and keep only the highest grade of fresh and smoked meats and poultry. Their help is courteous and capable, and the personal attention of both members of the firm maintains an efficient business organization, correct filling of orders and prompt delivery. This is one of our enterprising firms, interested in public questions and they are Glendale boosters.

DAVID L. GREGG.

This is a finely appointed store, especially fine quarters, and contains a carefully selected stock of goods. Mr. Gregg realizes that Glendale's custom is high-class and his stock is selected with that idea uppermost. There is a spirit of loyalty prevalent in Glendale that precludes the buying of outside merchandise, if it can be bought at home at fair prices, and he makes an especial endeavor to carry not only the right sort of a stock, but to carry it in sufficient quantities to satisfy the varied tastes of his patrons. This is the keynote of Mr. Gregg's store. He specializes in no particular item of stock, features nothing, but specializes in each item of stock and features them all. His experience makes the selection of stock complete, and he carries everything that one could expect to find in a first-class up-to-date hardware store. His location on Brand boulevard opposite the electric depot is ideal and an improvement over his former location on the opposite side of the street. Personally Mr. Gregg is an active, aggressive sort of a business man and citizen. He is interested in public improvement and the growth and welfare of Glendale, and is always ready with his aid to carry out any movement having for its object the building up of the city.

L. W. CHOBE.
 Then and Now.

Six years ago Glendale was a village with nothing electrical except the cars on their hourly trips to and from Los Angeles, and one electrical contractor with time on his hands. Today we find a city of remarkable

MISSION DRY GOODS STORE.

It requires a wide knowledge of Glendale trade conditions to be a successful dry goods merchant in this city. Glendale's people are exacting in their requirements, are convenient to the large city stocks and have the money to gratify their desires, so that a successful merchant must be familiar with their tastes, able to buy goods to please, and to attractively display them in his store. The Mission Dry Goods Store has this sort of a stock. It is bought to please the people of Glendale and to fill their needs. They have moved recently into a new store room at 415 Brand boulevard. It is a large well-lighted room, and affords splendid opportunity for the proper display of their stock. The stock is varied and complete. Mr. W. B. Forsythe is the proprietor. The establishment enjoys a fine trade and is earning a well-deserved reputation for the handling of good goods at moderate prices.

E. P. TRESSLAR.

Photographer. Mr. E. P. Tresslar, a photographer of years of experience, and a wide knowledge of the business, has recently located on Brand boulevard. Mr. Tresslar was for 21 years in business in Los Angeles and is well known to many of the people of Glendale and vicinity. He has a well-appointed studio near his residence at 607 S. Brand boulevard. He intends to do all classes of photographic work, but his specialty will be high-class portrait work. He is an artist of experience, and it is that sort of experience that produces correct and pleasing results in portrait work. Mr. Tresslar has had an especially wide experience with difficult interior work and one of his specialties is appropriately posed family groups, natural poses that please the home folks. Mr. Tresslar has made preparations to promptly handle the Christmas work and it will be delivered when promised.

KILBORN & PETERS.

This is one of the largest stores in Glendale and carries what is perhaps the largest stock in the city. The firm started in business in Glendale in December, 1910, in a room 16x24 feet in dimensions and they now require over 3000 square feet of floor space to accommodate their business. The members of the firm are O. L. Kilborn and J. E. Peters. Both were in business in Illinois before coming to Glendale, Mr. Peters having a large mercantile establishment at Mt. Carmel. They are experienced merchants, and their rapid growth has been an evidence of this fact, and also of the ample capital they have invested in the business. They carry a large stock of groceries, notions, tinware, hardware, wood and coal, flour and feed and notions, and their slogan is "We sell everything." It is probable that they will add a stock of staple dry goods to their stock in the near future, and a number of other additions are contemplated that have not as yet become sufficiently certain to make definite mention of them at this time. The store is situated in a well-built-up neighborhood, is away from the business center of the city, and its trade extends over a wide range of territory in Glendale and in its vicinity. Their complete stock is an attraction that is bringing the firm good returns, and it is for that reason that they contemplate its enlargement.

Both members of the firm are active in its management and give their entire time to the firm's business. They are both of the type of active, progressive business men that we are glad to have locate in Glendale. They have come here to make their home, attracted by Glendale's many advantages, and have built up a successful business by their own efforts and on stable lines. They have become identified with the rapid growth of the city, and are always ready to lend a hand to any movement having for its object the advancement of its interests.

TAYLOR MILLING CO.

This company's progress and prosperity offer one of the best illustrations of the growth of Southern California, and incidentally San Fernando Valley and the towns therein. They started ten years ago at their present location, with a grocery store occupying two small buildings. Today they own 1,000 feet on San Fernando road, and their buildings cover a comfortable portion of this space. They have increased their capital stock from time to time to keep pace with the demands of their business, until at present it is $75,000, fully paid, and they have an application on file with the state authorities to increase it to $150,000. It is a strictly local concern. Their stockholders are our own citizens, they sell in the main California products, and they sell to California people. They manufacture two well-known brands of flour, Los Angeles Best and Tip Top, job Kansas and Nebraska hard wheat flour, and manufacture a complete line of cereal products under the brand "Quality Cereals." They also handle a complete line of feed-stuffs and hay. They have spent a considerable sum of money and considerable time and effort to perfect a line of poultry foods. These they are now manufacturing under the brand "Purity Poultry Foods." The business of this company has grown so rapidly that their plant has been for several years in a state of enlargement, which, though inconvenient, is a comfortable indication of healthy growth.

The company have just contracted for a device which, though familiar enough in some lines, is an innovation in milling circles. They are about to have installed a vacuum cleaning plant over the entire system of mills and warehouses. This they expect to solve one of the vexing problems of the miller—that is, sanitary removal of the dust and dirt. The buildings are to be piped with compressed air, with convenient stations, or portable hose attachment to the cleaner, and the dust and dirt conveyed through pipes to a burning oven, where it is destroyed. The company have salesmen covering Southern California, and have twenty employees. Mr. J. Hartley Taylor, the president, is the active manager of the business. He is a virile, progressive citizen, an aggressive business man, and a California booster.

LITCHFIELD LUMBER CO.

Glendale's citizens are discriminating buyers and Southern California has come to set the pace with respect to style, finish, material and architecture of its homes, public buildings and business blocks. It is therefore true that a lumber company to be able to meet competition, satisfy its customers, and obtain their recommendation to their friends, must be progressive, up to date and modern in construction needs, and abreast of or ahead of the times. This is one of the characteristics of the Litchfield Lumber Co. They have the largest yard in Glendale, have the largest stock of lumber and a complete modern storage system for the caring for and keeping in good condition of their stock. They erected some time ago a modern galvanized iron shed for the storing of the better grades of lumber and their pride is the delivery to their customers of high-grade goods in prime condition. They carry in stock everything required by the builders whether the construction be business block or bungalow. Their stock has been selected with discrimination, and they are able to satisfy high-grade customers. They have furnished the material for many of our residences and business blocks of Glendale and vicinity, including the new city hall and intermediate school building and Baptist church. Mr. C. A. Litchfield is the proprietor and is in active charge of the business. He is an experienced lumber merchant, and he is further an active, progressive citizen, whose influence would be felt in any community.

F. M. GRAY
 Hotel Gray

Mr. Gray has, until recently, been the proprietor of the hotel at the corner of Glendale Avenue and Third St., but has given up the property owing to changes beyond his control, and has contracted for the building of a new hotel to be known as Hotel Gray, to be opened on or about February 1st at the corner of Broadway and Isabel. This will be a modern brick structure with twenty-five guest rooms, and will be conducted on the American plan only. Pending the completion of the new hotel Mr. Gray has opened a restaurant at the corner of Broadway and Glendale Avenues. He is serving well prepared home-cooked meals at meal hours and an especially attractive business lunch at noon.

GLENDALE'S HANDSOME HOMES.

Situated on North Maryland avenue, within a few feet of the highest point of land in Glendale, is the home of Mr. W. F. Nash, one of the prettiest in design and most convenient in arrangement in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Nash and family came to Glendale from Omaha about two years ago, locating in Glendale after having visited every suburban town near Los Angeles.

They decided to build a home in Glendale, and did so, on North Maryland avenue. After living in Southern California a year they decided they would build a real California home place, and their present handsome home, a few doors north of their former residence, is the result. It is situated within a few feet of the highest point of land in Glendale, near the foothills. The house is of the Mission type, is commodious and one of the most carefully built houses in Glendale. It was built by day labor, with the architect as the superintendent of construction. The lower floor contains the living room, dining room, breakfast room, one bedroom, bath and outside screen porch. The living room is finished in a warm brown oak finish, paneled in brown paper of a harmonizing shade. It has a fireplace, inglenook, and built-in seats on each side of the fireplace. It is separated from the dining room by a pillared arch. The living room has built-in bookcases, and the dining room a novelty in the form of a built-in writing desk. The kitchen is a dream in white enamel, with a sink running the full width, an Abestone drainboard, and plenty of closets and pantries. The electric fixtures were all designed and made to order and are unusually fine. The upper story is given over to bedrooms, all in white enamel, and the house is lighted with forty-six windows.

There is a private garage on the rear of the lot, and the street is about to be paved.

WERDEN'S CONFECTIONERY.

1100 1/2 Broadway. Mr. W. W. Werden has just purchased the business formerly conducted at the above number, having come here from Monrovia. Mr. Werden has been refitting his new place of business, putting in equipment for candy making and the serving of light lunches. He is a skillful candymaker of experience and intends to make all of his own chocolates and soft candies. The place is very attractively furnished, with a modern soda fountain, and fine fixtures and show cases. The rear of the room is arranged for the serving of fountain drinks and light lunches. It is finished in mission style with tables and high-backed, comfortable settees. Mr. Werden's hobby is the running of a first-class place; he has the experience, the skill and a fine location.

ROBINSON BROS. CASH GROCERY.

This firm is composed of Messrs. C. B. and W. H. Robinson, and they are located at the corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue, telephone Sunset phone 778. They carry a particularly well selected stock of fancy groceries. They have been at their present location about six months and are building up a nice business. Their stock is selected carefully and is particularly good as to preserves, cat-sups, bottled goods and the better grades of canned goods. They carry Jevne's bread fresh daily, the best brands of butter, fresh ranch eggs, ice cream in bulk, milk and cream, and their motto is "quality." One of their specialties is coffees, and they carry for particular people "Schillings Best" and "Newmark's Pure High Grade."

JAMES WYVELL.

Mr. Wyvell has been in business in Casa Verdugo for the past six years as real estate dealer and builder. He has been active in real estate circles during all of that time. He has on the market two unusually well located subdivisions, called Wyvell's Casa Verdugo Tract and Sobely Tract. He has always realized Glendale's prominence as a residence city, has backed his judgment by investments, and has reaped the reward of his foresight. He has for sale much Glendale, Casa Verdugo and other property, is a builder of fine homes, and does a general real estate, loan and insurance business. His reputation is for absolute reliability, his knowledge of property values is accurate and valuable, and he is a leader among our real estate men. His office is at Casa Verdugo, near the terminus of the car line, on Brand boulevard.

GLENDAL, CAL., NOVEMBER 22, 1912

Owing to unforeseen demands on our columns, a number of items of interest have been crowded out, some of which will appear next week.

The Musicians Union of Chicago has decided to boycott musical instruments that are not "union made." It is a little rough on old Stradivari, the Amati and others who made Cremona famous, and makes one thank the powers that be, that the labor union as it haunts Chicago, was unknown in their day.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Before another issue of this paper appears the nations annual Thanksgiving day will have come and gone.
The day is one of the four really important anniversary days which we as Americans observe.

Christmas, Independence day and Memorial day are in the same class with it and none of these should ever be permitted to pass without nation wide observance. In the busy and struggle of twentieth century life, we do not stop as often nor give thanks as frequently as we should for the manifested blessings which have been and continue to be showered upon us as a people. It is especially fitting that this day of thanksgiving should come after the gathering in of the abundance of the harvest. The fact that our lot is cast in a land that never knows the stress of famine and but rarely anything in the nature of a pestilence, is enough without the other infinite details of our blessings, to cause us to pause long enough to give thanks to the Beneficent Being that has made us a nation and blessed us peculiarly as a people. The frequent recurrence in our history of evidence proving our unwisdom as a people, is proof positive that a power higher than anything human controls our destiny and leads us by ways that we know not of into paths of pleasantness and peace!

SCOTCH TEA.

At the home of Mrs. E. H. Wightman of Central avenue, on Tuesday afternoon, the members of Sixth street Parent-Teacher Association held an unusually successful Scotch tea. The affair was given under the auspices of the "Ways and Means" committee, of which Dr. Jessie A. Russell is chairman. Mrs. Wightman was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Huneberger, president of the association, whose idea in holding the tea was to bring mothers and teachers together in friendship and social intercourse as well as in the business meetings of the organization.

Scotch readings were given by Mrs.
Rene Meek, who delighted the audience with her selections. Harry Lauder's songs, heard on the Victrola, were an amusing addition to the program. Refreshments were served buffet style. Mrs. Wightman was assisted in the dining room by Mrs. J. W.
Ullston and Mrs. W. H. Matthews. The afternoon was an entire success from every point of view. Among the guests present, was the entire faculty of the Sixth street school.

THE SECOND GIRARD CONCERT.

The second concert given under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and the Glendale High School filled the auditorium last Friday evening with an appreciative audience.
The program of the evening was furnished by Mrs. Vernon Spencer, pianist, and Mr. Anthony Carlson, singer, the latter accompanied by Mrs.
Carlson. Mr. Spencer added interest to his artistic performance on the piano by explanatory statements in regard to the selections presented.
The singing of Mr. Carlson consisted of excellent renderings of high class selections. The next concert takes place this evening.

CLUB LIFE IN GLENDALE

Glendale boasts of one departmental club for women. This means that the Tuesday Afternoon Club, organized in 1904, is doing excellent work as a federated club of various departments, or sections.

The club was at first only a social affair when ten or twelve ladies met with their sewing and discussed various books and read them together.
Then different lines of work were taken up, a charter was drawn, or rather the by-laws were made, officers elected and committees appointed until now they have a flourishing club of over 125 members.

So it is with all things which succeed—they must either expand or shrink into nothing.

Under the club motto, "In unity
there is strength" the Tuesday Afternoon Club is forging ahead and now is making strenuous efforts to clear a lot recently purchased on Fifth street
for a club house and home.

This club stands for culture and for the benefit of not only the individual members, but as an educational factor in the many fine programs they are presenting to the public. It was through the club that the city library was started in Glendale.

The club has also given some brilliant social affairs with the promise of many more. They have secured an excellent musical course, given by the artists of Mrs. Girard's Conservatory, at such reasonable rates that all may attend. They hope to present many educational evenings through the year and Glendale should be proud to support such excellent entertainments.
Mrs. R. E. Chase is the president for this year and a fine program arranged by a committee under Mrs. Daniel Cambell promises many treats for regular club days.

The different sections and their heads are: Civics, Mrs. R. W. Meeker; Household Economics, Mrs. L. W.
Sincclair; Literary, Mrs. Carl Mertens, (curator); Music, Mrs. Mattison B.
Jones (curator); Current Events, Mrs.
Robert A. Blackburn. On Charter Day
a very interesting and instructive program of American composers was given when Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, head of music section, delivered an address on "Music and Musicians in America," part of which follows:

AN AFTERNOON WITH AMERICAN COMPOSERS.

Unusually Fine Program.

The quality of the entertainments being offered to the citizens of Glendale and vicinity recently as noticed in the columns of the NEWS, may be judged by the one given at Masonic hall by the Tuesday Afternoon Club on Charter Day, Tuesday, Nov. 12th.
The program was in charge of Mrs.
Mattison B. Jones and was as follows:

ANOTHER PRIZE LETTER.

Glendale, Cal., Oct. 15, 1912.
Mr. J. N. McGillis,
233 Brand Blvd., Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sir:

In answer to your question which you have asked the city school children to answer, Why should our parents and friends avail themselves of the advantage of trading at the two stores of Mr. J. N. McGillis.

Consider financially the reason why
Mr. McGillis is able, above all merchants in Glendale to sell the same articles at a lower rate than others.
First, he sells for cash only and buys for the same. He buys large amounts for cash, sells them for cash and still makes a profit. Mr. McGillis hasn't any strung-out and back accounts to lose money on. He doesn't have to charge more for his groceries in order to come out ahead. When you pay money into a credit house
you help pay the interest on the delinquent accounts.

"Advertising is the life of business," but do all merchants sell exactly as they advertise? No. But Mr. McGillis advertises his goods and does not misrepresent them to any one. He sells exactly as he advertises.

When you go in either store you are met in a courteous way and waited upon promptly by his genial clerks.
His stores do not substitute. No just-as-good or this-will-do or any of the familiar phrases you hear so often.

You pay cash and you get 100 cents of value for your dollar, full value and quality at McGillis's stores.

If it's good to eat McGillis has it;
if he hasn't, he will get it promptly.
My Friend, when you consider the reasons why financially, courteous
and prompt attention, no substitution, full value and quality, and always that if you wish anything in groceries that Mr. J. N. McGillis has it, I think you will agree with me and tell your friends and neighbors to trade here
and make profit by doing so.

Yours for success,

LLOYD HARKNESS.

MAY BROS.

Designers and Builders.
This firm is composed of Messrs. J. C.
and B. F. May, and has been in business in Glendale about six years, being one of the oldest firms of builders in the city. Their specialty is the designing and building of bungalows and fine homes, though they do commercial work as well. They have had long experience with the particular needs of the Southern California climate. They have under construction at the present time seven bungalows in Glendale and vicinity. They are building one in Brentwood Place, Santa Monica, and also have under construction for the firm and possible

later sale an eight-room Swiss chalet on Riverside drive. They are the designers and builders of the new Wilson building being built on Broadway
for the new Broadway Department Store, and they are preparing plans for several other residences in the city. Their reputation in Glendale is for absolute reliability in construction, and their business is growing in a very satisfactory manner. They are both interested in the future growth and development of Glendale, and are ready to push along any movement looking to that end.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL.

The Intermediate school was started in the fall of 1911 with about eighty pupils and three regular teachers.
The work was at a great disadvantage
on account of inadequate provisions both in grounds and in buildings. At the opening of this school year the work was transferred to the new building, though the building seems ample the grounds are far inadequate.
There have been about 180 enrolled thus far this year. Five teachers are engaged regularly and also four special teachers who divide their time between the intermediate and other schools.

The special work consists of manual training, paper sloyd, music, drawing, sewing and cooking. The manual training and domestic science departments are especially well equipped for their respective work.

There was a time when boys and girls had sufficient work at home to teach them the common industries, but with many children this phase of their education is quite if not entirely neglected. It is often easier for father or mother to do the task themselves than to teach their children, consequently many have and are growing up in a helpless condition. Every child should be taught to work, irrespective of financial conditions, that of none may be unproductive agents of society, or improvident. This is what the up-to-date school is attempting to do in order to meet our present day conditions. The school day from 9 a.
m. to 3:15 p. m. is too short to do what the schools are expected to accomplish. As some boys and girls have not enough to keep them profitably employed at home, would it not be well to provide to take more of their time for industrial work somewhere? Boys and girls would better have no time to be idle.

CASA VERDUGO AND NORTH GLENDALE

A Beautiful Home Section Along the Foothills

Mount Verdugo's 3000 feet look down upon the territory having the interchangeable name of Casa Verdugo, or North Glendale, which is still under county government. Casa Verdugo alone, is the name of the postoffice. The section has a width of three-quarters of a mile between Glendale city limits on the north, and the first contour line of the foothills, the hills themselves, still sloping backward and upward to their crests, forming a background not included in the area here given. Between the west line of Glendale at Mountain avenue, west to Grand View Road, the distance is about a mile and a quarter. A triangle, having a base of three-quarters of a mile, on San Fernando Road, extends south from the upper west half, separated from Los Angeles city limits only by the tracks of the Southern Pacific railway. There is an estimated population of 1500 within these boundary lines. The majority of heads of families, also many business women, are engaged in Los Angeles, making the daily trip on the Glendale line of the Pacific Electric railway, which has over one-half mile of track north of Glendale, from Arden avenue to Bliss, the terminal point, with Dryden street and La Ramada between. About one mile of the Burbank extension from Arden avenue junction, on Brand boulevard, to "Brand" on Grand View Road, traverses this territory from east to west, with stations at Central and Pacific avenues.

One church is at present established at Park avenue and Fountain Place, of the Methodist denomination. The best of Verdugo Canyon spring water is served to consumers by three local water companies; gas by the Southern California Gas Company, and electric current by the extension of the Glendale municipal plant. Prior to the consolidation with Glendale city school district last spring, this territory, west of Central avenue, comprised a part of the West Glendale school district. Following consolidation, a bond issue of $30,000 was voted, providing for the Central avenue grammar school, on a five-acre tract, between Dryden, Park and Melrose avenues. Advertisements calling for bids on the construction of the school are now running and it is the plan to open the February term in the school. There will be four large rooms in this building with accommodation for 240 pupils, thus providing for perhaps two years, when a large increase in size, or the establishment of a new school, will again be an urgent necessity, to keep pace with rapidly increasing population. Taxes payable here, taken by items, show that for direct county purposes the rate is .756 on the assessed value. The road rate is .50—the work being done by the county. The Panama Exposition tax is .044, county free library .030, Glendale city school district tax 1.25, making a total of $2.59. To this, however, no municipal taxes are to be added. While no exact statistics are kept, the realty transactions during the year 1912, including new buildings and covering part of the territory annexed to Glendale during the year, run into large figures. Some fifteen parcels of improved and unimproved acreage amounting to 104 acres, have been sold for $219,250. By actual count 157 new buildings have been finished, or are in course of construction, costing from $1000 to $14,000 each, but with an average value of $2000, making a total of $302,000. About 125 lots, ranging from $600 to $4000 each, have been sold, which at an average value of $1000 totals $125,000. Add to this the miscellaneous expenditures of the companies serving gas, water, electricity, county road work and miscellaneous improvements by individuals, it will be found that a volume of business reaching $750,000, outside of business reaching $750,000, has been transacted. This district is a section of homes, established to enjoy the best that California affords in scenery, climate and social surroundings. The days of the year that one has to stay indoors for climatic reasons can be counted on one hand. Probably over one hundred new families have located within the boundaries named during the past year. Births have been normal in number, while deaths have apparently been below the average rate per 1000. The time table of the Glendale line allows thirty minutes for the run from Bliss to the Sixth street depot on Main street, Los Angeles. A service of fifteen minutes with two and three car trains is provided morning and evening, with a twenty-minute interval during the day. Close adherence to time table is characteristic of this line, and it has the reputation of being the most scenic trolley trip of any short run out of the city.

The development of choice home sites on the foothills goes on apace. A number of properties have the size and importance of estates. Among the well known owners residing therein may be named the following in order of location from east to west:

Jos. McMillan, general manager Pacific Electric lines; J. V. Vickers, capitalist; D. E. Fuller, president Verdugo Canyon Water Co.; David Black, retired; R. H. Whitten, capitalist; S. N. Dutcher, real estate; John Brockman, capitalist; Mrs. Emma Summers, "Oil Queen"; C. H. Toll, vice-president

Security Savings and Trust Bank; P. M. Johnson, capitalist; E. F. Fay, Fay Fruit Co.; George Mitchell, Cheyenne Cattle Co.; J. C. Kipper, retired; M. J. Drohan, retired (this property recently sold to Mattison B. Jones attorney, Glendale); Daniel Campbell, Bank of Tropic; Alex Mitchell, real estate; Mrs. M. Z. Valentine; Dr. K. S. Black and Dr. S. S. Black, retired; L. O. Brand, banker, and manager Title Guarantee and Trust Co. To prolong this list, to include the homes of well known business and professional men and women and families, would constitute a directory of North Glendale, from which no name could be omitted, by reason of the high average of the intelligence and refinement of the citizenship.

The Casa Verdugo Improvement Association, comprising in its membership public-spirited citizens, looks after the general civic welfare of the community. Homeseekers are cordially invited to visit this foothill section and get acquainted with its residents.

CASA VERDUGO "PATIO"

FRONT VIEW, CASA VERDUGO

CASA VERDUGO. Spanish Restaurant.

Southern California has many show places. Many places of amusement and pleasure of the highest class, but among them Casa Verdugo occupies a lonely position. It is in a class by itself. The writer of this article talked recently with a gentleman who has made many trips to the City of Mexico and he stated the Casa Verdugo for beauty of surroundings, elegance of appointment, and fineness of cuisine surpassed any of the finest Spanish restaurants in the City of Mexico.

This is the original Spanish restaurant of Southern California. It has been conducted for eight years by Senora Piedad-Yorba Sowl, and her name and the name of her establishment have been carried all over the world by her visitors.

The main building is of old mission architecture, and the surroundings are a veritable fairyland of flowers and tropical shrubs.

At Casa Verdugo you may order your surroundings as you may order your repast, to suit your fancy. You may dine on the wide, cool porches under the mission arches; you may order your meal served in one of the cozy nooks of one of the main dining rooms; you may have a superbly appointed private room placed at your service, or you may dine "En Ramada" in the arbor among the flowers, and the bees and the birds. Even the birds have adopted Casa Verdugo, and the grounds are alive with them, mockers and all their feathered cousins.

The Senora is here, there and everywhere with an eye to the comfort of her guests. The napery and cut glass would grace the St. Regis, and the waiters are the noiseless, soft-voiced kind that fit in with the surroundings.

A famous Spanish chef presides over the menu and his kitchen is in itself a show place. You are welcome there and the door is wide and it is never closed.

Two suburban electric lines starting at Los Angeles pass within half a block of the restaurant and San Fernando road or Vermont avenue turning north to the foothills provide a beautiful auto ride from the city. The Senora has a private garage for visitors' automobiles, and it is usually well filled.

It is impossible to put on paper the charm of the place. It is within a stone's throw of the foothills, is surrounded by beautiful residences and well-kept lawns, and is an ideal place to spend an afternoon or evening.

The menu is Spanish and has earned a deserved reputation. Advertisement.

"LOGANS"

North Glendale Inc. Store

Located at Stocker and Central streets is one of the busiest and best equipped stores in the Tropic-Glendale-Verdugo district. This business came under its present management about a year ago and has been much improved and carries a much larger stock than formerly. It is a combination grocery and market and in point of fixtures and equipment has no superiors anywhere. They carry a complete line of groceries both staple and fancy, vegetables and fruit and in fact as the enterprising manager, Mr. O. C. Logan, says, "If it is good to eat and to be had, we have it." The market is equipped with all modern sanitary fixtures and is in charge of experts. The store impresses one at the first glance by its cleanliness—the management evidently believing that a store should be as clean as a housewife's kitchen. A full delivery service is maintained.

This business is operated by an incorporated company of which Mr. Oliver C. Logan is president, Henry C. Freed secretary, and E. C. Goetz vice-president. Advertisement.

EAGLE ROCK BANK

This banking institution is owned, officered and controlled by local people, and is closely identified with the growth of Eagle Rock and vicinity. The bank was established five years ago, and has had a steady growth since that time. At the date of their last statement, Nov. 12th, the total resources of the bank were $108,491.17, their deposits were $79,583.02, and their capital stock and surplus $27,538.88. Eddy, C. H. Barker and C. J. Ritchie constitute the Board of Directors, and a most representative and able board it is considered to be. The bank makes real estate and commercial loans and transacts a general banking business. The bank is housed in the handsomest banking building in the state, beautiful in architecture and the interior furnishings and fixtures are of the finest. Mr. Fred E. Biles, the cashier, is the managing officer of the bank, and he is largely responsible for the success and growth of the institution. He is an active, aggressive sort of a citizen and is considered an authority on banking.

EAGLE ROCK MEAT MARKET

Mr. C. M. McSwain is its proprietor and he has been located in Eagle Rock about ten months. He runs a strictly up to date market in every respect. He handles his meat in the most cleanly manner, is particular about the grade of goods he sells to his customers and his prices are as low as consistent with good service. He does a strictly cash business, his customers do not have to pay for the losses due to credit customers who do not pay, he has no expense for bookkeepers and collectors, and the margin of profit thus saved is returned to his customers in the shape of low prices.

EAGLE ROCK GARAGE

Mr. L. McCourtney is the proprietor, and he has been in business in Eagle Rock about two months. He has a very completely appointed garage and keeps a fine line of motorcycle and automobile supplies and accessories, oils and gasoline. His establishment is equipped to do any sort of repairs to auto vehicles of any sort of description in a competent and workmanlike manner. He is about to install a machine-lathe and drill press and when these additions have been made to his equipment he will be in shape to handle all sorts of light machine work. The establishment is situated at 112 Colorado boulevard in ample quarters and convenient to the trade. Mr. McCourtney is a believer in the future business possibilities of the Eagle Rock country, likes the people he has located among and intends to make himself a part of our business community.

EAGLE ROCK FEED AND FUEL CO.

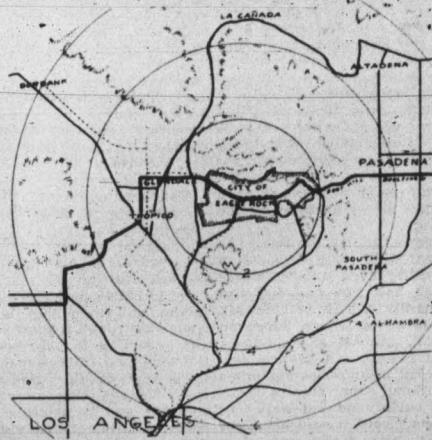

Mr. Johnson first started in business in Eagle Rock two years ago, but was unfortunate enough to suffer the loss of his entire establishment by fire. About one year ago he again opened up his establishment and is now located at the corner of Colorado and Central avenues. He carries an extensive stock of coal, wood, hay, grain, feed and chicken food. He gives his entire personal attention to the demands of his business, and considers his best advertisement a satisfied customer.

DR. ADELAIDE OBEAR

Dr. Obear is another case of the attraction of Glendale for professional people. She has been located here about four months and is a Glendale enthusiast already, coming to Glendale from Pasadena. The doctor is a graduate of the Pacific College of Osteopathy at Los Angeles and she has since taken a post-graduate course in obstetrics and gynecology.

Dr. Obear's devotion to her profession and her attractive personality ought and will gain her a distinct place among the professions in Glendale. She has offices at 409 1/2 So. Brand boulevard.

A. J. PRUES
In few sections of the United States is there as much attention paid to electric wire installation and the making and installation of electric light fixtures as in Southern California. The equipment thought to be amply sufficient in quality and style a few years ago is now obsolete. In completing a residence or office block, one of the items receiving the most careful attention is the character of the wiring and the beauty and quality of the light fixtures; both gas and electric.

Owing to this demand the business of electrical contractor has become an important one. It necessitates the ability and taste to design and furnish special fixtures, their correct installation, in order that they may pass the city inspection and please the customer. Mr. Prues has had years of experience in this line of business, is a most competent workman himself and employs expert help. His work has met with much favor in our vicinity and his business is enjoying a generous growth.

SUNSET NURSERIES (INC.)

This is one of the well known firms of Tropic and they enjoy an extensive patronage throughout the vicinity, due to the reputation their products have made for them. The Sunset Nursery is an incorporated company and has been doing business at Tropic for about four years. Mr. H. D. Roberson is president of the company and manager of the business. The offices are located at Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, where two and one-half acres are used for the propagation of trees and plants. An additional tract of five acres is also owned near Tropic which is used for the same purpose. They sell plants, fruit and ornamental trees, shrubs and vines, roses and palms. They are experts in their line and their advice is being constantly sought by our citizens as to proper plantings of trees and the culture of plants and shrubbery.

OLIVAS GROCERY.

This is a very neat, well stocked store at 529 Verdugo Road. Mr. J. D. Olivas and Mr. Lee C. Olivas are the proprietors and Mr. J. D. Olivas is in charge of the store. They have an excellent stock of goods, maintain a fine delivery service and enjoy a good business. Mr. Olivas is one of our oldest settlers having lived in Glendale since 1866.

TROPICO A CITY OF HOMES

And Industries Connecting Glendale and Los Angeles

TROPICO IS NOW AWAKE

A Story of Success
by Albert Marple.

After having slumbered for years and years, Tropic, the rapidly-growing little city of homes, lying just outside of the northern boundary line of Los Angeles, is now very much awake and is up and bustling. Long before most of us were fortunate enough to settle in this valley the name "Tropico" was on the map, but that was about all there was to Tropico—the name on the map. After much thought we acknowledged that there were a few scattered homes in the section which is now the city of Tropic, but these few were old-fashioned and weather-beaten. Doubtless, when first erected, they had received a coat of paint and they were probably modern in their day, but that day was long ago. And, too, the Southern Pacific station was located where it now stands.

It was at the rumor of an electric line to run between this valley and Los Angeles, that Tropico first showed signs of life, and dreamily gave evidence that an awakening was soon to take place—that the night was given way to the light of day. The awakening came slowly but when it did come it came completely. The local business center, which several years ago seemed only to be waiting for the last day, is now teeming with life and is thriving wonderfully. New enterprises are springing up frequently and old establishments that have been here for some time are growing wonderfully—keeping pace with the residential section of the city. Occasionally a business block is erected, these being no sooner finished than they are leased and filled. Everyone is boasting as the city grows.

The real growth of the city started when the section was incorporated as a city of the sixth class, this taking place on March 15, 1911. The very fact that incorporation had taken place seemed to put life into the boosters and mossbacks alike and everyone boosted more vigorously than ever, with the result that progressive business men were attracted and home-seekers were convinced that of all the places they had seen this was the ideal spot for a home. And so we grew and still grow.

Probably the chief asset of this city is the fact that the center of Tropic is but five miles by air line from the center of Los Angeles, a matter of fifteen short minutes over the Pacific Electric line, this being without doubt the most scenic route running out of the Angel City. The tired business man, after his day's work, boards a Tropic car and has barely time to read the headlines of the evening paper before the speeding cars have carried him from the heart of the busy City of the Angels into this, a more quiet community, a smaller city where quiet and rest await him—where his loved ones are watching for his return and where is the place he calls home.

In a little more than a year Tropico has experienced a growth of almost a thousand people. Twenty-five hundred happy boosters now call this little city their home—and still they are coming. The rich and the poor are alike welcome, for it takes all classes to make a well-balanced city—such as Tropic has proved to be. Hardly a day passes but that some home is filled or some beautiful residence is completed and taken possession of. And they tell us that the coming year—the year 1913—promises greater things than have taken place in 1912. And looking from one side of the city to the other and weighing all matters carefully, we believe them.

The assessed valuation of this city is $800,000, having experienced an increase during the last year of about $200,000. During the present year between seventy-five and a hundred homes have been erected here. These homes range in value from $1000 up to $8000, with the average at about $2500. The homes erected this year are with hardly an exception of the Swiss chalet type of architecture. These range from five to ten rooms, being modern throughout and of a class of which the city is proud.

While all sections have experienced a portion of the city's growth, probably the most favored section is that lying in the southwest portion of the city. This section is where lies the extensive property of the Richardson estate. This land, which was purchased by the Richardson family in the 80's for about two dollars per acre, is now being sold for from $1000 to $2500 per acre and the purchasers are glad to get it at that price. Something over a year ago a portion of the Richardson tract lying east of the Southern Pacific tracks was opened, and this tract has been built up so rapidly that at this time more than fifty excellent and beautiful bungalows, with the white shining roofs, are gracing the tract. The rapid manner in which houses in this tract sold far exceeded the expectations of the owners.

During the past few months a large section of the Richardson property lying on the west side of the Southern Pacific tracks was purchased by outside firms and this land is now under a course of improvement that promises to make it one of the foremost tracts in this section of Southern California. Four hundred and thirty-three acres of the Richardson land were included in these sales. The most recent of these purchases was made by the Pacific Home Builders company of Los Angeles, this piece comprising 222 acres lying north of the Pacific Electric tracks, south of Tropic avenue and east of the Los Angeles river. The work of preparing plans for the improvement of this piece is now under way, these to include the cutting of trees, to be oiled and graded, and sidewalks and curbing laid. In this tract will be about 1200 lots, which will be sold separately by the company or upon which the company will erect modern homes to be paid for on the installment plan. This is the second tract purchased in the Richardson estate by the Pacific Home Builders, the first being located east of the Southern Pacific tracks and south of the Pacific Electric line. This latter piece comprises twenty acres and has already been improved with streets, etc. About thirty beautiful modern homes have been erected in this tract, one being an $8000 structure at the junction of the San Fernando road and the Pacific Electric tracks, for Mr. Royce, president of the company. The homes range in value from $3000 to $8000.

Eighty acres were purchased a short time ago in the Richardson estate lying south of the P. E. tracks and west of the S. P. line by a syndicate of Pasadena men, headed by Mr. Paramore. Up to the present time about $25,000 worth of improvements have been made on this property, which is being cut into about 500 building lots. Five streets are being cut through the five blocks and these streets are being graded, oiled and tamped, and sidewalks and curbing are being installed.

A comparatively recent sale was that of 131 acres lying east of the river and south of the Pacific Electric tracks, this being bought by the Western Building and Investment Company of Los Angeles. Work will soon start on the improvement of this piece. In addition to cutting streets and laying sidewalks and curbs this property will be cut up into about 700 lots of good size. As soon as the improvement work is completed twenty new homes will be erected by the company.

The real estate agents tell us that property is moving faster now than it has done for years. The unusually heavy building activity has resulted in frequent sales. The vacant lots are being built upon and these homes are being purchased by strangers, who at once take possession of their new acquisitions. A number of new tracts have been placed on the market, sold, and the new buyers are building. Residential real estate has experienced an increase in value of about 25 per cent during the past twelve months, while business property has known an even greater advance.

What promises to put Tropic in a class with the most modern cities of the sixth class is the coming of electricity for street lighting. A short time ago the city entered into a contract with the Pacific Light and Power Company of Los Angeles for street lighting, the city to pay for the lights at a rate of one dollar per light per month. The system will start with one hundred lights, additional lights to be added at the wish of the city. A portion of the city has been furnished with electricity for the past two years at a minimum rate of $1.50 per month, but the company has agreed to extend the system to all parts of Tropic and upon the completion of the system on December 1st of this year, to furnish electricity for domestic purposes to residents of this city at a $1.00 minimum rate, with 7 cents per kilowatt hour for excess.

The local board of trustees took it upon themselves a short time ago to regulate the water rate, with the result that the cost of this commodity was reduced from $1.50 per month to $1.25 per month for a minimum of 800 cubic feet, with an excess charge of 7 cents instead of 8 cents for each additional hundred feet. This charge is made to parties using meters, while those not using meters have a flat rate of $1.25 per month. Connections now being made are generally without meter, for if the consumer does not demand a meter and the meter is installed, then the cost of the meter is borne by the water company.

Since incorporation Tropic has made a remarkable jump forward in the matter of improved streets. Where a year and a half ago was dirt and mud, with hardly a curb or sidewalk in the city, now are streets improved with hard oil, tamped and dustless. As many as twenty streets are now improved, being in all about 6½ miles in length. Along either side of these streets are curbs and sidewalks of the "flagstone" sort, these being of the very best. Street Superintendent Fishback informs us that several miles of streets are either now in course of improvement or are undergoing the legal requirements prior to the beginning of the actual work. And there are more coming. There is hardly a street in the city upon which an effort is not being made to secure this needed improvement, and petitions asking that work of this kind be done are being received by the trustees weekly.

The past year has seen a reduction in the fares of the Pacific Electric railway, giving service between this city and Los Angeles. The fare of 15 cents one way or 25 cents the round trip, which existed for several years and since the building of the railway, was reduced to 10 cents straight for the one-way trip, this fare to include the Park avenue station, which is the extreme northern station in this city. The cost of the 30-ride family, 45-ride individual and the 60-ride individual commutation books has also been reduced, bringing the fare down to about $2.30 per ride. A still further reduction is expected before a great while. A 20-minute schedule is maintained between this city and Los Angeles.

During the last vacation the Tropic grammar school was improved and beautified. Mrs. Martha McClure, principal, believes in the old saying:

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and as a result she has made a special effort to furnish recreation for the children. The youngsters appreciate the effort made by their principal to give them a better play ground than other schools support and in return they strive to live up to the rule of the school. "Work hours were made strictly for work." The enrollment here is growing so rapidly that additional facilities will soon be needed. More pupils from this city are attending the union high school than ever before.

An institution which always shows the growth of the community is the bank. The Bank of Tropic's record shows that that bank's business has almost doubled during the past year. It now has deposits amounting to $112,000; resources, $140,000, while the bank's loans are approximately $80,000. The bank's business shows that local residents are thrifty and not spendthrifts.

The business district has been "made" during the past year. Before January 1st, last it was practically a "village" business district, now it is a thriving "city" business quarter, with brick blocks of the modern type. During the twelve months three brick business blocks have been put up—The Tropic block, the Cabalg block and the Cabalg block annex, the aggregate value being about $40,000. There were several smaller business buildings erected. Plans are being drawn at this time for two or three brick blocks on which work will be started before a great while. A dozen or more new business enterprises have been started, and others are coming these to include a modern picture theater.

The Salyer Piano company of Los Angeles, is erecting a factory on the west side of Tropic, where half a hundred people will be employed when it is completed. And work has started on an osteopathic hospital on the San Fernando road to cost about $25,000. The Western Art Tile factory is now working full handed, employing about 275 men and women. The Southern Pacific line runs through this place and the company has a pretty little station on the west side of town. Mr. Cyde Theaker, the station agent, and Mr. F. H. Davis, postmaster of the Los Angeles branch office here, state that business in their lines has increased twenty-five per cent in the past year. The Salt Lake company has a branch line through Tropic.

The social life has kept pace with other lines in this city during the past year. The Pythian Sisters with a present membership of about 70, was organized about six months ago and is thriving. The sisters meet the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month, while the brother lodge, the Knights of Pythias, which was organized about a year ago, has a membership of 100, and is booming. This society meets every Monday evening. The Brotherhood of American Yeoman, with a membership of 50, and meeting every Friday evening, is progressing finely. Chapter A. H. of the Eastern Star has been organized for about four months, and while there is a membership of but twelve ladies, this society is up and doing every minute, holding meetings the second and fourth Fridays of each month at the homes of the members. Every first and third Thursdays of the month the meetings of the Thursday afternoon club are held, and this club, which boasts about 70 members, is one of the leading organizations in local social life. It is the aim of this club to be comfortably located in its own home before many moons.

This city is well supplied in the religious line, having Methodist, Presbyterian and Dunkard churches, at which services are held each Sunday and through the week. The Presbyterian church has two interesting societies in the Men's and the Women's associations, which are for the betterment of the men and women of the community.

Taken altogether 1912 has been very encouraging to those who know how this little city has really grown. And the signs by the way tell us that greater things are in store for which we have hitched our wagon to drawing us farther and farther up the narrow and somewhat rough road of success. Without expecting to ever see the end of the long and rutty street which leads to perfection, the wide-awake Tropicoite is rejoicing as every turn is rounded, and is shouting "Hurrah!" as each milestone is passed.

TROPICO FUEL AND FEED CO.

This business has been conducted by the present proprietors, Mr. James Rich and Mr. S. A. McNutt, since April, 1911.

They carry a large stock, the largest of its kind in the vicinity, and do an extensive business. Their location at 207 San Fernando Road gives them the advantage of much transient trade passing along that thoroughfare. They carry in stock Black Diamond and Wellington coal, wood, hay and grain, and give prompt delivery. Their yards, barns and buildings for stock cover a large area in the heart of the business district of Tropic and their business in the valley is growing rapidly. Both members of the firm are alive to their opportunities and both take an active interest in civic affairs.

THE X COMPANY

T. Funatsu, Prop.

Mr. Funatsu has been one of Tropic's merchants for more than three years. By careful attention to the details of buying and selling, the giving of each customer a square deal, and the making of modest prices, he has built up a valuable business.

He carries a very complete stock of general merchandise, consisting of dry goods, clothing and groceries.

TROPICO MERCANTILE COMPANY.

This is the largest and most progressive store in the Tropic-Glendale-Verdugo district. Their trade covers the entire upper end of the valley and a prompt, reliable delivery service—that delivers—brings the firm in close touch with their distant customers.

The manager of the business, Mr. J. Herbert Smith, is a hustling, aggressive business man, alive to every opportunity, and a thorough merchant. The store carries a complete stock of dry goods, notions, groceries, fruits and vegetables, and they believe in buying merchandise that sells.

They carry a complete stock and one as large as the needs of the business indicate, and while they are able for these reasons to supply any demand of their trade and compete with the city stores, they are enabled to do business at a cost that is far less than that of their city competitors, and their customers receive the benefit in the low prices offered. Their advertising is a reflection of this fact and a careful reading of their seasonal and well-written advertising reveals astonishingly low prices. They carry all the standard brands of groceries, a good stock of dry goods staples and are active competitors for the business of the valley residents. Mr. Orrin A. Gallup and J. Herbert Smith are associated in the Tropic Mercantile Company, and are heavily interested in the growth and development of the city, and have always taken an active interest in all movements that have had for their object the advancement of Tropic and vicinity.

ASHTON'S BAKERY

Glendale and Cypress Sts., Tropic

Mr. J. R. Ashton about a year ago established in Tropic an up to date, sanitary bakery and has built up a flourishing business.

He sells his products at both wholesale and retail and supplies his domestic trade through his auto and wagon service which is maintained from Tropic.

His goods are made in a modern sanitary bake room, by clean workmen and are kept up to a high degree of excellence. His work rooms and ovens are open to the inspection of the public at all times.

He manufactures a full line of bakery goods, but his particular specialty is "Ashton's Peerless Milk Loaf." He has copyrighted his wrapper label and sends out each loaf in a dust-proof, dirt-proof and germ-proof covering.

Mr. Ashton is a young man, is up to date in every particular and is one of the type of business men that is interested in the general welfare of the community in which he lives and does business.

TROPICO STOVE & LIGHT CO.

This concern, of which E. L. Young is proprietor, is situated at 201 San Fernando Road. Mr. Young carries a complete line of gas irons, enamel ware, gas fixtures, Wellsbach lights, globes, mantels, and all kinds of fittings for lights and stoves.

Mr. Young's stock is most complete, competent workmen are employed and the establishment takes pride in the character of the work done. He has recently secured the exclusive agency for Acorn gas ranges and carries a full stock.

TROPICO BAKERY AND CONFECTIONERY.

Genuine "Home-Made" Bread and bakery products are getting to be a novelty. This probably accounts in large measure for the excellent business enjoyed by Mr. Chas. Hipp.

Mr. Hipp's bread is known the length and breadth of the Valley. He makes it himself and it is even better than that mother used to make, because he makes it in the same way and he has had more practice. Mr. Hipp also makes a full line of pies, cakes, rolls and other bakery products.

Mr. Hipp owns the property in which his establishment is situated and is one of Tropic's solid, substantial citizens. His phone is Home 1542.

FRANK B. MCKENNEY & SON

One of the store rooms is devoted to a complete furniture store. The stock carried is as complete in assortment as that of the city stores, and is carefully selected. The firm has furnished many of the attractive homes of Tropic and the valley. The second store room is devoted to hardware, sporting goods, paints, oils, glass and similar articles. Their hardware stock is most complete and is selected especially for the needs of the valley trade. One of the specialties in stock is the entire line of Sherwin-Williams paints and varnishes. A full line of high grade tools is also kept in stock.

This firm has been established in Tropic about one and a half years and has built up a reputation for enterprise and square dealing. The members of the firm are active and progressive and interested in the progress of the city and vicinity.

TROPICO MARKET

An inspection of this market cannot but convey to the minds of its patrons looking for a first class market, that they have found one. Mr. Wayland A. Chapman purchased the A. Stephenson Market recently and moved it to 126 San Fernando road. He has added handsome fixtures and a modern sanitary cold storage. An ample stock of fresh and salted meats is kept and a specialty is made of sausages of their own manufacture. The business receives the personal attention of Mr. Chapman, and he employs first class help. Mr. Chapman is an active young business man of the progressive sort and his business is conducted along modern lines. He recently was awarded the "Griffith Park contract" for meats, butter and eggs in open competition, which shows his prices are as low as anywhere.

TROPICO RESTAURANT

124 San Fernando Road

A. P. Mason, Prop.

This is a fine dining room on San Fernando Road, in Tropic. It is well furnished, clean and enjoys a steady custom, both among Tropic residents and the city's visitors.

Short orders are served at all hours and regular meals at meal hours. The 25c noon day lunch is quite popular among those who eat their lunch in the city and the restaurant is crowded at the noon hour. Mr. Mason supervises the preparation of the food and her home-made pies are famous in Tropic. They have been missing for some time, due to her illness, but they will be in evidence again in a few days.

This is a clean comfortable restaurant. It receives the personal attention of its proprietor, and every effort is made to please each customer.

H. A. JENNINGS & SON

This is one of Tropic's business firms that has grown to full size. Mr. H. A. Jennings came to Tropic from New York some ten years ago and started in business in a small way. His original establishment has been enlarged from time to time until it now occupies a building 48x98 feet at 111 San Fernando road. The lower floor is taken up with a completely equipped, modern blacksmith shop, furnished with power machinery. In this department special attention is given to expert horseshoeing. Horse clipping is also done. The second floor is given over to the woodworking department.

BROWN-ZERR ENGINEERING CO.

A competent experienced firm of civil engineers whose technical knowledge is backed up by years of experience, is a very desirable acquisition to any community, and Glendale is to be congratulated on the location of this firm in the city.

Mr. R. D. Brown, the senior member of the firm, is a graduate of Yale college and for twelve years was a division engineer of the Santa Fe. He has wide experience in all lines of engineering.

Mr. E. J. Zerr, the junior member of the firm, has three and a half years' engineering experience with the Southern Pacific, mostly in old Mexico.

The firm do railroad, hydraulic, irrigation, sewerage and municipal engineering, and also do subdivision work, furnish plans and estimates and supervise contracts.

They have recently been engaged in contour work as a preliminary survey for a scenic railway of a new type up Mt. Verdugo.

Both members of the firm are firm believers in the future of Glendale, and her advantages, and are members already of her Club of Boosters.

GLENGARRY STUDIOS

There is perhaps no section of the country where a photographer finds it as hard to please his patrons as in Southern California. They demand high grade work and an artist who can deliver the goods is assured of a ready patronage.

Mr. S. C. Maronville, proprietor of the Glengarry Studio, has been delivering the goods in Glendale for one and a half years, and he has a growing business. He handles all classes of work in photography, portraits, views, etc., but his specialty is child portraiture and the samples of his work on display at the studio show his ability along this line. He is also making color work. This work is done by Mrs. Maronville, who is an accomplished artist in oils and water colors. Mr. Maronville's work shows that he keeps abreast of the times in his profession.
